

ITALIAN GANG WILLINGS DRIVE WILLIE RUSSO TO QUIT CITY

With Two of His Brothers Slain and Himself Marked for Death, He Is Leaving for Good, He Says.

TAKEN TO STATION BY POLICE ESCORT

Owner of Gasoline Depot and Produce Store Always Denied He Had Part in Feud Outbreaks.

Willie Russo has quit St. Louis, after telling police that he was leaving "for good."

Marked for assassination by enemies belonging to the Giannola-Palazzo gang and accused by police of heading the so-called Russo gang, he left the city Saturday night, following the burial of his brother, James, shot to death last Wednesday in a gang outbreak in University City in which another gangster, Mike Longo, also was killed and a third, Jack Griffin, was wounded.

In the last year 21 men have been murdered in the gang feud, two of the dead have been Russo's brothers, the feud starting when Tony Russo and a friend, Vincent Spizzuto, were lured to Chicago and killed Aug. 9.

Asks for Police Escort. Willie and three other brothers remained after James Russo was killed Wednesday, and it seemed likely that they also would be killed if they ventured forth from their hiding places without armed guards, and perhaps even then. So last Saturday, after his second, less than a year to the family, he in Calvary Cemetery, Willie Russo telephoned the Carr Street Police Station and asked for an escort to Union Station.

"What for?" asked Capt. Nally. "I'm leaving town," replied the worthy, stocky Italian who has insisted all along that he was not a gang leader, but merely owner of a gasoline filling station and a produce stand at Union Market.

"Leaving for good?" inquired the Captain.

"Yes, for good," answered Russo. So two police automobiles manned by heavily armed detectives drove to the Russo family residence at 215 North Sixth street from which the funeral of James Russo had been held a few hours before, while police cars circled the block.

Willie and his wife and two children and his brothers, Lawrence and Francis, got into the cars and were driven to Union Station, where they boarded a train. The detectives who saw the Russo family off reported they did not know their destination and did not learn where the train was bound.

A sister of the Russo brothers is married to a member of the Aiello family, which has connections in Chicago and Springfield, Ill. of the Aiello family have been killed in the gang feud. A relative operates a large hotel in Springfield, Mo.

Hopes Feud Will End. Chief of Police Gerk today expressed the hope that departure of Willie Russo might stop the deadly feud. Vito Giannola and Alphonse Palazzo, rival gang leaders, have been killed, and John Giannola, a brother, has moved to Alton, where he is in the wholesale fruit business.

Chief Gerk yesterday ordered Jack Griffin, the gangster wounded last Wednesday, transferred from an open medical ward at city hospital to the barred prison ward. The change was made after Griffin's wife had twice telephoned police that she had heard an attempt to kill Griffin at the hospital would be made. Chief Gerk said this was unlikely, but he was "taking no chances." Griffin is booked as a suspect in the murder of Vincent Barbera, gangster killed June 25 as he left a wedding party at Jefferson Hall.

Detectives now are investigating information that a price of $5000 was put on the heads of James Russo, Mike Longo and Jack Griffin by a prominent Italian gang leader now living out of St. Louis. The police informant says that after the money was paid to five of them, one of them lured Russo, Longo and Griffin to the place where the others killed Russo and Longo and wounded Griffin.

Willie Russo, denying he was a gangster, has filed two court actions against police. He lost the first suit, which was to enjoin police from picketing his filling station at Seventh and O'Fallon streets, an alleged gang rendezvous. A second suit, to enjoin police from destroying his armored Cadillac car, still is pending.

Henry Ford at 65, Says He 'Hasn't Reached Age Limit'

Tells Birthday Visitors Judgment and Experience of Men Over 50 Are Essential to the World.

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Mich., July 30.—Henry Ford expects to do more in the next five years than he has done in the last 20, he told visitors who came today to congratulate him on his sixty-fifth birthday. Ford was in optimistic mood and made it clear that he had not yet found his age limit.

Ford believes the judgment and experience of men over 50 are essential. "You take all the experience and judgment of men over 50 out of the world and there wouldn't be enough left to run it," he said. "Youngsters have their place and are necessary, but the experience and judgment of men over 50 are what give purpose and meaning to younger men's efforts."

Ford spent the day as he spends most days—in making the rounds of his various plants in the Detroit area and otherwise concerning himself in the activities of his interests here.

Some one asked Ford how much money he had lost in making the change from the Model T to the Model A car.

"Who said I had lost anything?" he countered. "We can't lose what doesn't belong to us. The profits we made on 15,000,000 Model T cars wasn't our money. The public paid it to us. The money profits came from the people and we look upon them simply as a public trust which must be put back into the manufacture of something that will help men and women to better more productive lives."

POLICE RAID BATHING PARTY IN POOL WITHOUT SUITS

Eight Young Men and Women Routed in Fashionable Kensington District of Great Neck.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 30.—Eight young bathers were routed by Nassau County police early yesterday morning from the pool in Kensington district of Great Neck, L. I., where residents, most of them wealthy, are prohibited from bathing in the pool by a village ordinance. No arrests were made.

Roused by the shouts and laughter of the bathers and the flashing of lights on the bank of the pool, one of the residents sent a servant to investigate. His report angered his employer, who telephoned police.

Two automobiles filled with policemen hurried over to the pool. There the police found the young folks disporting themselves in the water without bathing suits. When police approached several of the girls screamed and submerged. The bathers refused to budge until police withdrew. The patrolmen turned their backs and then the bathers ran from the water and piled into automobiles, backed on the bank.

BOY, 3, SWALLOWS POISON SPRAY SOLUTION AND DIES

Robert Schuessler Succumbs After Drinking From Can Found on Lawn of Home.

Robert Schuessler, 3 years old, 4215 Clay avenue, died today after swallowing a poison solution used for spraying trees.

He wandered into a neighbor's yard where he found the solution in a can standing on the lawn. He died on the way to a physician's office.

DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPER TURNS AGAINST SMITH

Harrisburg, Pa., Patriot Published by Vance McCormick Will Oppose New Yorker.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 30.—The Harrisburg Patriot, Democratic newspaper, published by Vance C. McCormick, former Democratic national chairman, tomorrow will carry an editorial recommendation of Gov. Smith as the Democratic nominee for the presidency.

WEBSTER GROVES MAN IS DROWNED IN BLACK RIVER

C. J. Johnson, 45, Claims Manager of National Surety Co., Loses Life Near Centerville, Mo.

Charles J. Johnson, 45 Fieldstone terrace, Webster Groves, manager of the claim department of the National Surety Co., was drowned yesterday in the Black River at Centerville, Mo., 110 miles south of St. Louis, while bathing with Mrs. Johnson and a party of friends. He was 45 years old.

Accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. G. Kirchner of 5175 Cabanne avenue, the Johnsons had come to Centerville for a week-end outing. Shortly before noon the party went bathing. Johnson, who could not swim, led the way toward the middle of the river. Suddenly he stepped into a hole, went down over his head, and disappeared.

Within five minutes his body had been recovered. Dr. Kirchner directed resuscitation measures, but they were ineffective.

Besides his widow Johnson is survived by a son, Robert Eugene, 3 years old.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BOY SCOUTS BAG LION APECE ON AFRICAN BIG GAME HUNT

Martin Johnson Writes of Adventures of Three Americans in Expedition.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The three American Boy Scouts taken to Africa by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson on a photographic expedition have bagged a lion apece.

Letters from Johnson to George Palmer Putnam describing the boys' activities were made public today.

"The plains are literally swarming with game," Johnson wrote in one letter. "Our Scouts have already seen 164 lions and each boy has shot one particularly fine lion."

"The Scouts had a fine adventure," another letter reads. "Seven lions surrounded the camp, one actually entered the front seat of an automobile parked near by and another chewed up the rear tire. A third lion contrived to get at a camera which it reduced to pulp. It was a thrilling night, but all is well."

The Boy Scouts, each 15 years old, are Richard Douglas of Greensboro, N. C., David Martin of Austin, Minn., and Douglas Oliver of Atlanta, Ga.

YOUTH ON CRUTCHES EXECUTED

Killed Physician for Advising Amputation of Leg.

BELLEFONTONE, Pa., July 30.—Joseph Kamensky Jr., 20-year-old confessed murderer of Dr. Gerald Kelly of Jessup, Pa., went to the electric chair this morning at the Rockview Penitentiary. Kamensky, one of the youngest executed in Pennsylvania, had confessed he shot the doctor because he had advised the amputation of one of Kamensky's legs after a mine accident three years ago.

Kamensky used crutches as he unflatteringly made his way from his cell to the death chamber.

MOTHER IS TOLD HOW MALMGREN DIED IN ARCTIC

She Believes Story of Capt. Zappi Who Relates How He Left Comrade in a Grave on Ice Floe.

HE VISITS HER IN STOCKHOLM

Turns Over Compass of Dead Companion to Parient—Nobile Greeted by Italians at Copenhagen.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, July 30.—Gen. Umberto Nobile and the survivors of the Italia reached German soil this morning at Warnemunde by the train ferry from Denmark. The curtains of their car were tightly drawn and neither Nobile nor any other members of the party showed themselves.

The Italians' car was coupled to the newly installed direct train from Scandinavia to Italy. The train will run by way of Magdeburg, Halle, Nuremberg and Munich, not touching Berlin. It is scheduled to reach Rome at 11:10 p. m. tomorrow.

By the Associated Press. STOCKHOLM, July 30.—The mother of Dr. Finn Malmgren believes that he met death as reported to her by Capt. Filippo Zappi—urging his companions on to safety while he remained dying in a grave.

Zappi who had started across the ice with Dr. Malmgren and Capt. Alberto Mariano after the crash of the dirigible Italia, called on Mrs. Malmgren to give her her son's compass. With her son-in-law translating, the conversation was carried on between the rescued Italian and the mother of the Swedish scientist in English.

The son-in-law quoted Zappi as saying: "Dr. Malmgren was not in good form when we started out and soon remarked that his strength was going to fail him. One day, I believe it was the twelfth of June, the doctor asked me, as his only service I could do him, to dig a trench in the snow and take the compass which was a presentation for his work with the Amundsen expeditions of 1922-1923."

At this point the Captain handed the compass to Mrs. Malmgren, saying: "You know him; all we could do was to obey him as he was like that." Mrs. Malmgren was later quoted by her son-in-law as saying: "The object of Capt. Zappi's call has been attained. I feel perfectly calm. I believe absolutely that Capt. Zappi is telling me the truth."

Zappi also said: "Dr. Malmgren and I were the best of friends. We were like brothers. I have been very much pained by what has been said about me but I have a clear conscience before God. Dr. Malmgren kept no notes, at least after the disaster."

Here Mrs. Malmgren interrupted Zappi's story with the exclamation: "I understand—it was not his habit."

Three nurses from maternity hospitals have called. Another nurse arrived with a wheel chair "for the invalid."

TRAINING FOR LIFE IN CANADA

British Government to Fit 20,000 Miners and Families for Change.

LONDON, July 30.—Twenty thousand English miners and their families are to undergo a training course of from nine to 16 weeks to fit them for farm work in Canada, said Lord Lovat, Under Secretary for the Colonies and Dominions, today. Lord Lovat is to sail for Canada Saturday to confer with Ottawa authorities.

British representatives said it was hoped to have this contingent of unemployed miners ready for their new life by next spring. He explained that the plan is independent of the proposal to send 10,000 men, of whom 7,500 would be miners, to assist in the Canadian harvest this year.

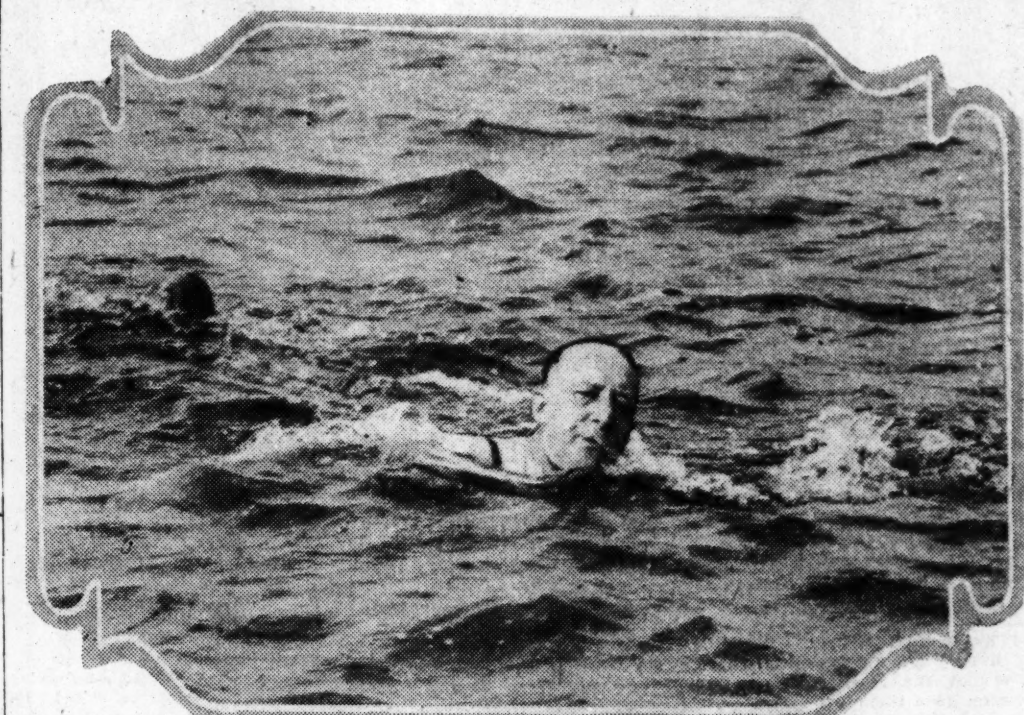

SAFE STOLEN FROM PRISON

Burglars Escape With $4500 Payroll of French Penitentiary.

MELUN, France, July 30.—Barefooted burglars last night carried away from the Government penitentiary a safe containing the July payroll of $4500. While armed guards were supposedly patrolling the walls, they climbed to the top floor, saved three bars from the windows of the cashier's office, unlocked the safe, lowered it with ropes and carted it away.

The opened safe was found five miles from the prison.

ANNOYED TWO YEARS BY PRACTICAL JOKERS

Mrs. de Pelzer Appeals to Police When Ambulances Are Sent to Her Home.

For more than two years, Mr. and Mrs. John de Pelzer, 2855 Meramec street, have been annoyed by undertakers, florists, physicians, automobile salesmen, Chinese and other persons arriving at their home in response to orders by telephone which the De Pelzers did not send.

Mrs. de Pelzer lost her patience and asked police to find the practical joker after four ambulances arrived at her home Saturday afternoon and she had to tell the drivers she was not sick and did not care to go to any hospital. The driver of one ambulance, from the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, informed her a room had been reserved in her name.

De Pelzer, who is 74 years old and a sewing machine repair man, said the annoyance is caused by persons with whom he has had disputes. Mrs. de Pelzer, who is 67, surmises someone may be attempting to drive them from the house in order to buy the property cheaply. However, they do not intend to move or sell. They bought the house in 1925.

They have compiled a partial list of the annoyances as follows: Several undertakers have called, asking for the body.

Flowers have been received, with cards expressing sympathy in family bereavement.

One Saturday 22 automobile salesmen delivered as many makes of automobiles which had been ordered by telephone.

Twenty-six special delivery letters have been received. Some announced "your sons will visit you" and gave a list of Chinese names. Chinese men have called in person at the house.

Eleven windows have been broken, and sticks have been hurled into the rooms. Jewelry and clothing have been stolen.

Three nurses from maternity hospitals have called. Another nurse arrived with a wheel chair "for the invalid."

EX-GOV. CUTLER OF UTAH SHOT TO DEATH IN GARAGE

Salt Lake City Police Seek to Learn Whether Fatal Wound Was Self-Inflicted.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 30.—John C. Cutler, 82 years old, Salt Lake City banker and former governor of Utah, died in a hospital here at 11:15 o'clock today shortly after he was found in the garage of his home with a bullet wound in his head. Police immediately began an investigation to determine whether the fatal shot was fired with suicidal intent.

Cutler last Thursday left the Deseret National Bank, of which he was president, at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and despite search by police was not found until 5 o'clock the following morning. He was found in a downtown restaurant and explained his absence with the statement that he merely wanted to think over in solitude several questions confronting him.

ANOTHER STEAMBOAT RACE

Chris Greene Accepts Challenge of Pittsburg Captain.

CINCINNATI, O., July 30.—Another steamboat race is in prospect with the acceptance by Chris Greene of a challenge to run his boat against the Senator Cordill, a Pittsburg boat. The challenge was made by Capt. M. O. Irwin of the Senator Cordill prior to the race of the Chris Greene with the Betsy Ann between Cincinnati and New Richmond, O., last Tuesday evening, which the Chris Greene won.

It was indicated that the race may be run on the 20-mile stretch of water between Gallipolis and Pomeroy, O., probably next week.

108 PERSONS INDICTED AFTER NEW YORK RAIDS

Texas Guinan and Helen Morgan Among Those Accused Under Dry Law.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 30.—A Federal grand jury today indicted 108 persons, including Texas Guinan and Helen Morgan, night club hostesses, and Nils T. Granlund, radio announcer for Station WHN, as an aftermath of the sensational liquor raid on Broadway's cabarets last month.

The indictments charge conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and the maintenance of nuisances. The raids, undertaken on orders from Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant United States Attorney General, were made by agents, mostly from Washington, dressed in evening clothes who it was said had been frequenting the raided resorts for months posing as wealthy visitors. Miss Guinan was not at the night club where she is hostess when the raiders arrived.

Miss Morgan, said to have been singing when the squad descended on her place, was reported to have slipped into the cloak room and changed clothes with the girl attendant and escaped.

Both Miss Morgan and Miss Guinan appeared before a United States Commissioner and were held in $1000 bail each on charges of maintaining nuisances. They both pleaded not guilty.

The night of the raid all of New York's prohibition agents were called to headquarters and kept in a room without communication with the outside until the hour for the raid. Then they were detailed with the out-of-town agents.

RACING YACHT AZARA UNREPORTED 23 DAYS

Old Superstition Inspires Fear for Safety of Owners and Crew of Six.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 30.—Fears for the safety of the racing yacht Azara, which has failed to arrive in Santander, Spain, were expressed today by seamen, believers in a century-old superstition that shoal-draft vessels, such as the Azara, are unseaworthy. Just before the start of the race to Spain July 7, part of the Azara's crew deserted because of this superstition.

The Azara, built in 1904 of bronze, was the smallest boat entered in the Class A or larger boat division. It is a three-master, owned by a professional and amateur crew, in charge of the owners, George J. and Francis E. Baker, brothers, of Detroit, Mich. They sailed the boat to New York from Detroit, traveling through the Great Lakes, through the St. Lawrence and down the Atlantic coast.

The yacht, designed by A. C. Cry Smith, is 118 feet over all and 53 feet water line, with extreme breadth of 21.4 feet and raft of 5.11 feet. The Elena, winner of the race, had a draft of 16.11 feet. The Azara is the only boat unaccounted for.

An unconfirmed report from Santander said a boat, thought to be the Azara, had been sighted off the coast with a broken mast. The nonprofessional crew on the boat included: Dr. George A. Brown, David Whittemore, E. E. Griner, Edward Donnelly, Ted Rippengill and Enrique Carega, a Spaniard.

King and Queen Present Cup: Special One for Lambert Yacht. By the Associated Press.

SANTANDER, Spain, July 30.—The King and Queen of Spain, the United States Ambassador, Ogen Hammond, and high civil and military officials assisted yesterday in presentation of trophies to victors and others in the trans-oceanic yacht race from New York to Santander, completed last week.

King Alfonso's cup was presented to the yacht Elena, owned by William D. Bell. The Queen's cup, for smaller yachts, went to the Nina, owned and piloted by Paul Hammond.

A special cup was presented to the yacht Atlantic, owned by Gerard E. Lambert, for the longest day's run of 230 miles in the large class.

MAIL-HAULING ROADS TO GET $15,000,000 MORE YEARLY

In Addition to This Increase, I. C. C. Orders U. S. to Make $45,000,000 Back Payment for Service

RISE RANGES FROM 15 TO 80 PER CENT

Five Members of Commission Dissent From Award Which Became Effective Aug. 1.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 30.—Railroads carrying mail for the Postoffice Department will receive an increase of approximately $15,000,000 a year in pay under terms of an Interstate Commerce Commission order today, and in addition a lump sum of about $45,000,000 for underpayment which the commission held the Government had made since July, 1925.

A majority of the commission held that trunk line railroads were entitled to an increase of 15 per cent over the present compensation to become effective Aug. 1. The petitions for the increase having been filed in July, 1925, the commission ruled that the carriers were entitled to collect the new rates from that time. Independent short line railroads over distances of under 100 miles were granted an increase of 80 per cent over their present compensation, but the commissioner refused to allow a change in the system of making rates and denied a railroad proposal to group such charges by territory. Some minor changes were made in the present methods of calculating the mail charges.

Commissioners Lewis, Porter, McManamy, Taylor and Eastman dissented in part or in whole from the majority ruling. Commissioner Lewis objected particularly to the retroactive award, while Commissioner Eastman and McManamy declared that the accounting methods by which the increases were decided upon were unsound.

The increase of $15,000,000 a year in the allowance to the carriers will, of course, increase the usual annual postal "deficit." Last year this "deficit," caused by extensive free service, amounted to $23,500,000, although Representative Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, Republican spokesman for the House Postoffice Committee, declared there was really a profit of more than $6,000,000. The increase, by his calculations, would create an actual deficit of about $9,000,000.

In a Washington article published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch of March 10, Representative Kelly declared that five classes of free service, costing $35,416,311, had been provided by the Postoffice Department. Deducting the $29,000,000 "deficit" from this figure, he arrived at an actual surplus of $6,416,311.

Representative Kelly apportioned the cost of the free items thus: Penalty mail (that sent out in envelopes stamped with a notice of $300 penalty for private use), $6,253,524; mail sent under congressional frank, $520,691; free carriage of small country newspapers, $9,000,000; special flat rate to religious, fraternal and similar publications, $15,000,000; subsidy for foreign mail on American ships, $3,600,000, and free handling of publications for the blind, $32,000.

LINDBERGH TAKES WOMAN PASSENGER ON FLIGHT

Destination Said to Be the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, in Arizona.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 30.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh with a woman passenger and a mechanic took off here today presumably for a flight over the Grand Canyon of the Colorado within Arizona.

The flyer left Santa Barbara, Cal., at 5:30 a. m. with two women on board. He was lost in the fog three hours before making a landing at an East Side airport here.

GOV. SMITH SAYS HE ISN'T WORRIED ABOUT SOUTH

Emphatic "No" Is His Reply to Reporters' Questions Concerning Bolting by Some Democrats.

TO MEET CAMPAIGN HEADS WEDNESDAY

Governor Declines to Comment on William Allen White's Charges on His Public Record.

By the Associated Press.
HAMPTON BAYS, N. Y., July 29.—Gov. Smith asserted with emphasis today that he was not worried about the political outlook in the South. The Democratic presidential nominee disclaimed any concern over the bolting of the party by some Southerners opposed to his candidacy, during a press conference on the lawn at Canoe Place Inn, where he is spending a brief vacation. It was his first comment for publication on the situation in the South since his nomination at Houston.

This question was put to Smith by a reporter: "Are you worried about the South?"
"No," the nominee declared without hesitation, declining to be drawn out further on the subject. The Governor said that after returning to New York City on Wednesday he expects to remain there until Sunday when he plans to motor to Preckitt to review national guard troops at Camp Smith. From the encampment he expects to continue by automobile to Albany late Sunday.

In New York the Governor will find a number of his chief political lieutenants whom he did not see during his overnight stay in the city last week. Most of them, including John J. Raskob, chairman of the National Committee, who is directing his campaign; Herbert H. Lehman, banker in charge of campaign finances; and Senator Percy Gerry of Rhode Island, have not had an opportunity to discuss the campaign with him since the reorganization of the Democratic National Committee several weeks ago.

To Deliver Speech Aug. 21.
Before he goes back to New York into final form the speech touching campaign issues he will deliver at his notification three weeks from Wednesday evening, Smith will have the opportunity in New York to discuss the outlook with practically all of his advisers. From them he will be able to get first-hand information as to how the situation looks in the corn belt, in the South, in fact throughout the nation.

The Governor declined to comment on a new assault from William Allen White, the Kansas editor, on his legislative record.

Ignores White's Charges.
"I have nothing to say at this time," he declared emphatically, warding off inquiries intended to establish whether a reply to White's might be expected soon.

Although the lid was on here over week-end on presidential politics, Smith took a shot at his Republican Legislature and in so doing reopened the old feud between them on public parks.

In rejecting his program for development of State parks, the Governor contends his political opponents adopted a niggardly policy, contrary to the best interests of the public.

He took newspaper men by motor to the two undeveloped parks near Montauk Point, on the eastern extremity of Long Island. As he gazed around, calling attention to a lack of bathing and recreational facilities, he remarked: "This is cold-blooded, deliberate neglect; it's ridiculous."

Two of the Governor's close friends of long standing, Senator Wagner and Surrogate James A. Foley, both Tammany Hall leaders, were here over the week-end and attended a small dinner given in Gov. Smith's honor last night at Canoe Place Inn by Mrs. Charles F. Murphy, widow of the former Tammany chief, who has a summer residence here.

SLUMBERING DRIVER DROWNS
By the Associated Press.

Gen. Nobile and His Rescuer on Base Ship

GEN. UMBERTO NOBILE, the man with the beard, and his rescuer, Lieut. Lundborg, aboard the Italian base ship, Citta di Milano. Lundborg landed on the ice floe with his seaplane and took Nobile off. He damaged his plane on a second trip and later was rescued.

led by Gen. Umberto Nobile off when they left Copenhagen. They presented the rescued men with flowers, gave them the Fascist salute and cheered loudly.
There were no demonstrations of any kind in Copenhagen. Nobile remained in the Italian legation all day except for a short automobile ride and a police guard was stationed outside. Nobile shook hands with the sergeant of the guard and regretted that his presence had spoiled the men's holiday.

The other rescued men made a holiday tour of the city, spending several hours in the famous Tivoli gardens.

BEHOUNEK LAYS ITALIAN DISASTER TO GAS LEAKAGE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BEHLIN, July 30.—Prof. F. Behounek, Czechoslovakian meteorologist, who was a member of the ill-fated Nobile expedition into the Arctic arrived here today, and stoutly defended the conduct of Gen. Umberto Nobile, leader of the expedition.

"Gen. Nobile and I parted bitterly comrades than ever," said Behounek.
The meteorologist attributed the disaster on May 25 to an unexpected leakage of gas from the balloon Italia. He said ice formations atop the balloon were not the cause.

"Gen. Nobile was saved first from the ice because he was lightest in weight," explained Behounek. "Two days before aviator Lundborg's arrival on the ice Gen. Nobile had fixed rescues in the following order: Cecioni, (who was injured), myself, Triani, Nobile, Viglieri and the wireless operator Biagi. I was named second because I was snow blind."

"But it was found that Cecioni was too heavy for Lundborg's plane so Nobile was placed aboard by Lundborg's orders because he was the lightest and because he was wounded."

At the railway station Behounek was met by his fiancée, Fudka Felix. After they had emerged Behounek turned again to the correspondents.

"I would go again with Nobile," he added. "If I am still single. 'Never again,' put in his fiancée. The Czechoslovakian scientist denied there had been any quarrels. He said the Russians had misunderstood conditions because they did not know the Italian language."

"We all parted better comrades than ever," declared Behounek.
The scientist said that Nobile and Dr. Finn Malmgren, the dead Swedish scientist, were on the most intimate terms. Malmgren, he said, left the Nobile party of his own volition.

Speaking further of the Mariano Zapelli affair, Behounek said: "The actions of Mariano and Zapelli are hard to explain. Sitting here one would say, 'I would not have left Malmgren to die.' But they faced a desperate situation. Things look different among the ice wastes. I do not know what I would have done."

Gen. Nobile Declares Honor of Italy Is Intact.
COPENHAGEN, July 30.—The newspaper Morgen Bladet says that while Gen. Nobile was here with the survivors of his Polar expedition, he answered at least one question related to the disaster. A reporter for the Morgen Bladet inquired whether the report was correct that he contemplated another North Pole expedition "to re-establish Italy's honor."

U. S. RAIL MAGNATE HURT, WIFE KILLED IN CRASH IN FRANCE

Auto of Mr. and Mrs. William H. MacIntyre Wrecked Against Tree Near Carcassonne.

By the Associated Press.
CARCASSONNE, France, July 30.—William H. MacIntyre, understood to be a former New Yorker, was seriously hurt and his wife killed when an automobile crashed against a tree here yesterday. A break in the steering mechanism caused the crash.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The New York Evening Post says the William H. MacIntyre, injured in an automobile accident in Carcassonne, France, is the president of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railroad, Mrs. MacIntyre, who was killed, according to the paper, was the former Miss Mary Cowing. They were married in 1891. The MacIntyres sailed for Europe July 12 for a tour of Southern France.

MacIntyre figured in the so-called "Yellow Dog" syndicate investigation, at which Charles Evans Hughes questioned James Hazen Hyde and E. H. Harriman. MacIntyre, it was charged, managed all syndicate transactions which included a $50,000,000 Union Pacific Railroad preferred stock pool. He rose from office boy to fourth vice president of the Equitable Life Insurance Company.

ADMITS HE AND ACCOLPICES PASSED 200 BAD CHECKS

Melvin Horton Confesses Operations Were Started Three Months Ago.

A confession that he and associates passed 200 spurious checks in St. Louis and vicinity in the last three months, collecting several thousand dollars, has been made by Melvin Horton, former convict.

He named as his accomplices a married pair residing on Hunt avenue, and James Wilson. Wilson confessed Saturday to passing about 100 checks. The married pair, who are in custody, made a denial.

In addition to these, Horton says, checks were passed in the following communities: St. Charles, Festus, Webster Groves, Clayton, Overland, Arifon, Kirkwood, Maplewood, Sappington, East St. Louis, Belleville, Edwardsville, Venice, Granite City, Columbia, Collinsville and Madison.

The checks were purported to have been issued by the following firms: Hardy Salt Co., Jormandy Tile Co., American Glue Co., Acme Paper Co., American Lumber Co., Huttig Lash and Door Co., Midwest Lumber Co., Midwest Upholstery Co.

FLOODS IN CENTRAL KANSAS FOLLOW SEVEN-INCH RAIN

300 Families Driven From Homes at Hays; Railways Washed

By the Associated Press.
HAYS, Kan., July 30.—Flood conditions prevailed in the wheat belt of Western Central Kansas today, following heavy rains in several sections yesterday.

Although 200 families were forced to flee from their homes here last night, no loss of life was reported. Property damage here was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Residents of Holsington, Kan., were forced to higher ground when flood waters, following a seven-inch rain, swept into the lower part of the town. A mile of railroad track was washed out.

CITY ASSESSMENT OF INSURANCE FIRM UPHOLD

Supreme Court Says Levy Against American Central Might Have Been Higher.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—The Missouri Supreme Court on banc today sustained an assessment of $500,000 made by the St. Louis Board of Equalization on personal property of the American Central Insurance Co. of St. Louis, for 1926 taxes, and said the assessment could have been greater had the board inquired fully into all the facts.

The ruling was an additional one in the litigation over assessment by the city of personal property of domestic insurance companies, and follows the rulings in two controlling opinions delivered by the court last July 3. The city lost its suits against several companies, on a ruling upholding a law authorizing the companies to deduct their legally required reserves and unpaid claims, from their returns for taxation.

The American Central Insurance Co. made a return of $5,925,000 for personal property in Missouri, for 1926 taxes, but claimed deductions of $5,604,623, leaving only $320,382. The St. Louis Board of Equalization increased this to $500,000. In upholding the companies to deduct their legally required reserves and unpaid claims, from their returns for taxation.

At lunch time the party stopped outside of Crescent City, at the base of an unusually large red wood and the photographers were able to get closeups of the nominee as he explained some of the characteristics of the red woods in which he has had a deep interest for years and in the movement for the preservation of which he was a pioneer.

Crossing the Interstate line yesterday afternoon the Hoover party sweltered in a blazing sun. They passed the historic "Ghost" towns of Kerby and Waldo, and Sallier Diggins, where years ago, millions of dollars in gold were panned by miners within a few miles of the Oregon marble caves and swung into the junction of the red wood and Pacific highways at the edge of Grants Pass, without entering that community.

In the Grants Pass section Hoover saw acres of gladioluses in bloom. Acres of corn, melons and other crops, all under irrigation. He swept through orchards so heavily laden with pears that props were used to save the trees from breaking down.

HOOPER'S CEDAR RAPIDS DATES

G. O. P. Candidate Will Be In Iowa City Aug. 22 and 23.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 30.—James W. Good, manager of Herbert Hoover's Western campaign for the presidency, today announced he had arranged for Hoover to be in Cedar Rapids, Ia., on Aug. 22 and 23 for a series of conferences with agricultural leaders of the Middle Western states.

Although there will be a public meeting on the night of Aug. 22, Hoover will make no public address during the two days he is in Cedar Rapids. Mr. Good said, "after devoting his time to meeting the farmers."

CAMERAS CATCH HOOVER BUT HE CATCHES NO FISH

After Two Futile Hours on Oregon Stream He Departs to Angle for Trout in California.

By the Associated Press.
BIG CREEK LODGE, NEAR MEDFORD, Ore., July 30.—Herbert Hoover's first try for fish early today was unsuccessful, due largely to the fact that photographers insisted on getting close-up views and keeping continuously near him.

After two hours on the Rogue River near here, he gave up and started ahead of schedule for Brown's Camp, in California, where he will fish for mountain trout for three days before taking a train to his home at Stanford University.

The presidential candidate will seek to keep clear of the picture men, as he holds that fish just refuse to bite when cameras are around. Brown's Camp is 60 miles away, over a mountain range. The Commerce Secretary was an overnight guest here of William Isaacs, a Medford merchant who has a cabin on the banks of the Rogue above some rapids where the steelheads have been biting of late.

Hoover had intended to spend the night at a Medford hotel, but Isaacs met his automobile caravan at Grants Pass, held a hurried conference with the Oregon policemen who were showing the party the way over the mountain roads and then became pilot himself. Just west of Medford the lead cars turned off on a dirt highway and drove to the place.

Hoover and some of his party accepted invitations to spend the night and some went fishing late in the day, but Hoover said he did not want to fish on Sunday.

The party yesterday motored 250 miles from Bull Flat, to this place, crossing two mountain ranges over roads which overlooked the Pacific Ocean and valleys filled with red wood and other trees.

At lunch time the party stopped outside of Crescent City, at the base of an unusually large red wood and the photographers were able to get closeups of the nominee as he explained some of the characteristics of the red woods in which he has had a deep interest for years and in the movement for the preservation of which he was a pioneer.

ANGLO-FRENCH COMPROMISE UPON NAVAL DISARMAMENT

Chamberlain Tells Commons Agreement Will Be Submitted to Other Maritime Powers.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 30.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, announced in the House of Commons today that Great Britain had reached a compromise with France over the naval disarmament question, which would be submitted to the other naval Powers and eventually to a disarmament conference.

Speaking of the Kellogg anti-war pact, the Foreign Secretary said it was a "recognition of the horror of war and the fact that war is something which should be only a last resort. How much more the treaty will be, will depend, in my opinion, not on any engagements taken by the United States Government, but on how the rest of the world thinks the United States is going to judge the action of an aggressor and whether that Government is going to help or hinder him in his aggression. If American opinion ranges itself behind the treaty, it will be a great help to peace. This is what His Majesty's Government hopes it will be."

The senatorial vote gave Mayfield 159,015, Connally 146,884, Col. Alvin M. Owsley, past National Commander of the American Legion, 102,691, Congressman Thomas L. Blanton 95,632, Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, 55,554, and Jeff McLemore 4,667.

Likewise a heavy field of candidates apparently had cost Lieutenant-Governor Barry Miller a clean-cut nomination in his race for renomination, although he led his most active opponent by $3,000 votes.

The race drew chief interest because State Senator Thomas H. Love, who ran second, had announced he would not vote for Gov. Smith on the national ticket in November, and whose name subsequently was left off the ballot in several counties.

The returns gave Miller 241,304; Love 155,273; J. D. Parnell 99,110; H. L. Darwin 35,299; John D. McCall 22,165.

Election observers pointed to Love's lack of support and to the defeat administered to Judge Hawkins and Mrs. Wilkins in the gubernatorial race as indicative that threat of a bolt from the national ticket in November was negligible among the Democratic electorate. The two gubernatorial candidates had aligned themselves with the in the Lower House.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS GIVE GOV. MOODY 120,000 MAJORITY

This Is His Lead Over Three Rivals in Race for Gubernatorial Nomination.

By the Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., July 30.—Dan Moody, who was swept into the Texas Governor's chair in 1925 on a campaign based on opposition to Gov. Miriam A. ("Ma") Ferguson, has been renominated on the Democratic ticket, which is tantamount to election.

The vote in 236 of 253 counties, including 53 complete, in Saturday's Democratic State primary, as tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau, gave Moody a majority of nearly 120,000 votes over his three opponents.

With approximately 600,000 of the estimated 700,000 votes cast counted at that time, Moody had 349,283 votes, Louis J. Wadsworth, Fort Worth, 82,287; Judge William E. Hawkins, 25,298, and Mrs. Edith Wilkins, 14,884.

United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield got a plurality in his race for renomination, but lacking a majority will enter a runoff primary Aug. 25 with Congressman Tom Connally of Marlin.

Mayfield in Lead.
The senatorial vote gave Mayfield 159,015, Connally 146,884, Col. Alvin M. Owsley, past National Commander of the American Legion, 102,691, Congressman Thomas L. Blanton 95,632, Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, 55,554, and Jeff McLemore 4,667.

GRANDNIECE OF INVENTOR OF THE TELEPHONE MISSING

Yosene Balfour Kfr, 18-Year-Old Orphan, Disappeared July 29.

By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., July 30.—Police today announced that Yosene Balfour Kfr, 18-year-old orphan, niece of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, has been missing since July 20. Miss Kfr, an orphan, had been living in a rooming house here. Her disappearance was reported by A. M. Baker, artist and illustrator, who had been a friend of her parents. Miss Kfr's father, Balfour Kfr, was a son of a sister of the inventor of the telephone.

The police theory that the girl was reunited with her grandparents might have caused her disappearance, was discounted by Baker. Most of her possessions, including a treasured picture of her mother, were left behind at the rooming house. Two of Miss Kfr's younger brothers, John Balfour and Waldron, are on a farm at Dry Forks, Va., and a third is in Louisiana with his grandmother.

PEORIA, Ill., July 30.—Three, or possibly four, persons were thought to have drowned when their automobile crashed through a guard rail of a bridge and plunged into the Illinois River here at 1 p. m. today.

Half an hour later, police, firemen and a diver sent to the scene had failed to recover any bodies.

MEDAL AWARDED TO HOOVER

Gets Seaman Prize for Mississippi Flood Relief Work.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 30.—In recognition of his "great public service from the standpoint of human value" and particularly for his conspicuous work in the Mississippi flood relief, Herbert Hoover is to receive the Major-Surgeon Louis Livingston Seaman medal. The American Museum of Safety announced the award yesterday.

The medal, as described by its donor, Maj. Seaman, is "for the best record in the saving of life in the field of sanitation and accidents. The most recent award made in 1922 to the late Judge Elbert H. Gary."

bolting element, and their names also were dropped from the ballot in several counties.

Among the Congressmen whose renomination appeared certain was John N. Garner, who has been mentioned as a possible speaker of the House in the event of a national Democratic victory in November. He has served 12 terms in the Lower House.

The Commissioner overruled a plea by Flinn that the contract was valid because another law makes it the duty of a city council to award a contract for public work to the lowest responsible bidder, and that this duty was nullified by the requirements of the corporation law.

Acceptance of a bid and award of a contract for a public improvement are not legislative acts, he said, because the city council has no right to refuse to accept a bid, "because the discretion of the council is not exercised on the question of the legal rights of the foreign corporation to transact business in the State."

MAYOR DELAYS ACTION ON ILLINOIS TERMINAL GRANT
Says He Is Waiting for Brief to Be Submitted by Attorney for Bank.

Mayor Miller said today that he was awaiting a brief to be submitted by Albert L. Schmidt, attorney for the Cass Avenue Bank, before taking action upon the bill for financing the Illinois Terminal System to haul freight into the downtown business district for 50 years. The bank and North St. Louis in general has opposed the bill because it irretrievably commits the city to permit a freight grade crossing at Cass avenue, a major thoroughfare carrying two street car tracks and heavy east and west vehicular traffic.

There is little doubt that the Mayor will sign the bill. He championed it before the Board of Aldermen; in fact, prompted that body to action in a special session after it had indicated its desire to permit the matter till autumn to permit thorough discussion.

However, the Mayor is not unaware of the possibility of a referendum and is not certain that his action would meet approval at the polls, especially if voters were thoroughly informed of the obvious defects of the franchise and its ineffectual clauses affecting the public interest.

PAVING LAID BUT COURT RULES BILL NEED NOT BE PAID

Supreme Bench Decides Case of Delaware Contracting Firm That Failed to Get Missouri License.

MAN DISCOUNTING
BILLS IS THE LOSER

Technicality Unanimously Supported by Judges of Division 1 Relieves Property Owners of Tax.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—The Supreme Court today denied the right of E. J. Flinn of Excelsior Springs, Mo., to collect tax bills for paving of a street in Excelsior Springs, because the contracting company from which he purchased the tax bills was not a Missouri corporation and had failed to obtain a license to operate in Missouri.

Flinn, in discounting the tax bills for the contractor and taking an assignment of them, was obligated to take notice of the limit of the corporation's legal powers, the court held. The opinion was written by Commissioner Lindsay and concurred in by all the Judges of Division No. 1.

Flinn purchased the tax bills from the Southwest Co. Engineers and Contractors, a contracting corporation organized under the laws of Delaware. The company had carried out several street paving contracts in Excelsior Springs.

MAKING LAID BUT COURT RULES BILL NEED NOT BE PAID

Supreme Bench Decides Case of Delaware Contracting Firm That Failed to Get Missouri License.

MAN DISCOUNTING BILLS IS THE LOSER

Technicality Unanimously Supported by Judges of Division 1 Relieves Property Owners of Tax.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—The Supreme Court today lent the right of E. J. Flinn of Excelsior Springs, Mo., to collect tax for paving of a street in Excelsior Springs, because the contracting company from which he purchased the tax bills was not a Missouri corporation and had failed to obtain a license to operate in Missouri.

Flinn, in discounting the tax bills for the contractor and taking an assignment of them, was entitled to take notice of the fault of the corporation's legal powers, the court held. The opinion was written by Commissioner Lindsay.

Commissioner James D. Lindsay, who wrote the opinion, said the court had ruled previously that a private corporation which had added to comply with the Missouri law before undertaking to do business in Missouri could not maintain any action in any Missouri court upon any matter arising out of the business transacted. He held the contract in this instance was void and that Flinn, as assignee of the tax bills, stood in the same position as the corporation and had no greater rights. "If the contract out of which the rights of the assignee arise is illegal, the assignee has no more right to enforce it than the corporation would have had," Commissioner Lindsay said.

The Commissioner overruled a plea by Flinn that the contract was valid because another law makes it the duty of a city council to award a contract for public work to the lowest responsible bidder, and that this duty was not nullified by the requirements of the corporation law.

Acceptance of a bid and award of a contract for a public improvement are not legislative acts, the Commissioner held. "Acceptance of the bid of a foreign corporation by the council and entering into a contract is not conclusive that the contract is valid, and we hold this to be so," he said, "because the discretion of the council is not exercised on the question of the legal rights of the foreign corporation to transact business in the State."

15 SHARE RESIDUE OF M'CHESNEY ESTATE

State Supreme Court Dismisses Claim of One Heir to $50,000.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—The 15 persons and institutions named in the will of Mrs. Blanche L. McChesney of St. Louis are entitled to share equally in the residue of her estate, under a decision today by Division No. 1 of the State Supreme Court. The decision was given in a suit by the St. Louis Union Trust Co., executor, to have the residuary clause of the will construed.

The ruling, affirming a decision of the St. Louis Circuit Court, denies a claim by Herbert Dills Little of Parkersburg, W. Va., a half-brother of Mrs. McChesney, that the residue of the estate should go to him. The residue amounts to more than $50,000. Mrs. McChesney died in St. Louis Feb. 1, 1923.

Specific cash bequests totaling $75,000, in amounts varying from $500 to $15,000, and bequests of personal property, were made in the will. After listing the legatees the will provided the residue should be divided among "the above heirs."

Little, who received a $5000 bequest, contended "heirs," as used, meant next of kin, which would have limited the residue to him, or, if the Court did not adopt that view, it meant blood relatives, which would have given the residue to Little and a cousin, Ruth Little Palmer of Cumberland, Md. Judge F. E. Atwood, who wrote the opinion, construed the clause to mean all legatees to whom bequests were made.

Among the beneficiaries are the St. Louis Children's Hospital, $10,000; Home of the Friendless, $10,000; First Church of Christ, Scientist, St. Louis, $15,000; and $5000 to Mattie Caruth McMillan of St. Louis, to be expended for the welfare of homeless children.

In another opinion, written by Commissioner A. M. Seddon, the Court upheld the claim of Sidney S. Smith of Indianapolis, Ind., to a savings deposit of $17,550 in the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis, which had been carried jointly by Smith and Mrs. Caroline B. L. Frank of St. Louis, who died in August, 1924, at the age of 74 years. The account was in the names of both, "either or survivor to withdraw."

Joseph Roth, a former Deputy Sheriff and brother of Constable George Roth of Central Township, St. Louis County, surrendered today at Clayton with three other men indicted last Thursday by the special grand jury investigating graft and reported protection of organized lawlessness in the county. Roth, who is charged with manufacturing liquor, was released on $5000 bond.

Others who surrendered and gave bond are Wilmas, a former electrical worker and member of the Town Board of Brentwood, charged with transportation of liquor; Harry Wipke, 6232A Eastern avenue, proprietor of septic poisoning, resulting, she told physicians, from an illegal operation. She was taken to the hospital Saturday by two women who gave a fictitious name for the patient.

GIRL DIES AFTER OPERATION

Miss Eva Landers Was Taken to Hospital by Woman.

Miss Eva Landers, 20 years old, of 8815 Tudor avenue, St. Louis County, died yesterday at Missouri Baptist Sanitarium of septic poisoning, resulting, she told physicians, from an illegal operation. She was taken to the hospital Saturday by two women who gave a fictitious name for the patient.

HUSBAND DIES FRIDAY, WIDOW ON FOLLOWING MONDAY

Grief Hastens End of Mrs. C. J. Bullo's Double Funeral to Be Held Wednesday.

Grief over the death last Friday of her husband, Charles J. Bullo, hastened the death today of his widow, Mrs. Rose Bullo. Mr. Bullo died of a paralytic stroke. Mrs. Bullo, who was in a weakened condition as result of injuries suffered in a fall last November, succumbed to a brain hemorrhage brought on, attendants said, by worry.

A double funeral service will be held for them at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the family residence, 3445 Dunnicane avenue, where both died.

TULIPS AS MEMBERSHIP PRIZE

500 Darwins Offered in Campaign of Horticultural Society.

To spur the membership campaign of the St. Louis Horticultural Society, Eugene H. Angert, the president, has offered 500 Darwin tulips as a prize to the member who brings in the largest number of new memberships. Angert has an extensive tulip garden and his Darwin tulips are considered exceptionally fine.

POSTOFFICE BRANCH IS ROBBED

Total of $820 Taken by Burglars at 9600 S. Broadway.

A total of $820, including $123 taken in Saturday by a postoffice substitution at 9600 South Broadway, and $697 of the funds of the Kinkel Bros. Produce Co., in the same quarters, was stolen last night from a safe at the South Broadway address by burglars who pried off the combination.

Neighbors saw three men leaving the place shortly before last midnight.

Mrs. Clara Hurst Dies in West

Word of the death at Los Angeles, Cal., last Saturday of Mrs. Clara Hurst, lawyer-in-law of the late John Scullin, head of the Scullin-Gallagher Steel Co., was received here today. Mrs. Hurst was 68 years old and had resided in St. Louis for 35 years. She is survived by her husband, Stephen Hurst, who was formerly connected with the Scullin Steel Co.

BEATEN MAN TURNS IN FIRE ALARM TO SUMMON HELP

John Volanti Says He Thought That Was Speediest Way; Is Arrested.

Responding to an alarm from a box at Prange and Genevieve avenues at 1 o'clock this morning, two fire companies and a squad of policemen found, not a blaze, but a badly beaten man.

"Where's the fire?" they demanded. "No fire, no fire, just me," he replied, identifying himself as John Volanti, 34 years old, of 4779 Plover avenue.

YOUNG WOMAN ARTIST STRANGLES HERSELF

Takes Life After Brooding Over What She Thought Was Failure.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 30.—Considering herself a failure on the road to artistic eminence she had set herself, Marvyl Eglund, 24 years old, put an end to a week of sleepless brooding early yesterday when she made a snip of her stocking and strangled herself to death while visiting friends here.

Miss Eglund, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Eglund, live in Glenview, Minn., was to have enrolled in Columbia University summer school today to continue her art studies. A month ago friends of the young woman said, after having attended Barnard College a year, she went to Denmark, Me. There she taught art to children, to earn money for the summer tuition. She returned from Maine Saturday evening.

Learning her chum, Miss Catherine Lewis, a staff member of the Studio Club, had left the day before on a vacation Miss Eglund, called on Miss Alice Moudy of Terre Haute, Ind., with whom she formerly taught school in that city. Miss Moudy and four women friends from Terre Haute had rented an apartment at a Claremont avenue address for the summer and month.

When Miss Eglund arrived at the apartment, she was depressed and despondent, according to Miss Moudy, and complained that she had not slept more than a week. At 4 o'clock in the morning, Miss Moudy awoke and saw a light in Miss Eglund's room. She found the girl sitting on the edge of her bed, her head sunk in her hands, sobbing. Miss Moudy tried to comfort her and then Miss Eglund told of her failure to make enough money to devote all her time to art study, failure to sell any of her pictures, failure to realize her ambition.

EXTRAVAGANT WIVES VS. SENSIBLE WIVES!

THE weekly meeting of the bridge club is in full swing! The prizes have been distributed satisfactorily... and as usual "the girls" are engaged in a little friendly gossip while the hostess is preparing the refreshments!

BLANCHE: "Just look at that, now... that's a brand new radio... and one of the very best makes! How Edna ever does it is beyond me! I just mentioned to Tom the other day that I'd like to have a radio... and he nearly hit the sky... my dear, the things he called me... we have barely spoken for a week! I just couldn't help wondering what he'd do if he had a really extravagant wife like Edna to spend his money the way she must to keep her home looking like this!"

MARIE: "I know it... Blanche, isn't it amazing how she always has the latest things and such beautiful pieces. Frankly, I can't see how she does it at all. Her husband has a good job... but he doesn't make any more than my husband does..."

HELENE: "I know Edna must be horribly extravagant... but I surely envy her this home... it's the prettiest one in our crowd... and I notice that everyone of us enjoy coming here... even if we do envy her... and wonder how she does it..."

The pantry door swings open quietly... and

WOMAN WHO SHOT SELF RESTING EASILY

Physicians Expect Louis Gratz, 57, to Recover—Suffered Scalp Wound.

Louis Gratz, head of the company operating the Washington Hotel, Kingshighway and Washington boulevards, who shot himself in the head in a store room there yesterday noon, is in a serious condition at Jewish Hospital, but is expected to recover. He is 57 years old, lives at 5567 Waterman boulevard and is president-treasurer of the Cardinal Hotel & Investment Co.

The bullet, from a .32-caliber revolver found beside Gratz, made a glancing wound in his scalp. Questioned about his action, he would only reply, "I want to die." His wife and Earl Rendlow, manager of the hotel, told the police Gratz had been worried over financial matters.

Gratz appeared to be under a nervous strain when he arrived at the hotel after 11 o'clock. Rendlow related, so the manager detailed George Weaver, a bellboy, to watch their employer. Gratz eluded Weaver and went to the store room, in the basement. A shot was heard there, and Weaver heard Gratz call, "George, help me, I'm shot."

A Kansas City physician stopping at the hotel gave emergency treatment before Gratz was taken to the hospital.

LAW TO CLEAR CHILD'S NAME HELD UNLAWFUL AS TO TITLE

Measure Permitting Mother to Sue to Establish Paternity Adjudged Unconstitutional.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—A law enacted by the 1921 Legislature enabling the mother of an illegitimate child to institute suit in Circuit Court to obtain a decree establishing the paternity of the child, was held unconstitutional in a decision today by Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court, because of defects in the title of the act.

The court did not question the right of the Legislature to pass such a measure, but held that failure to express the subject of the measure clearly in its title constituted a violation of the Constitution on passage of laws.

Suit was filed in Stone County Circuit Court by Gertrude Bonhard against W. Blaine Short, seeking a decree naming Short as the father of a child born to her out of wedlock. The court was asked to give the child the right to bear the name of Short and to make orders for the child's support.

Short took a change of venue to Webster County Circuit Court, and his attorney's there filed a demurrer, attacking the law under which it was filed as unconstitutional because of a defective title. The trial court sustained the demurrer and dismissed the suit. The decision today affirms the lower court's ruling.

SELECTING A FUNERAL DIRECTOR IN YOUR CITY

THERE is an important duty that most people neglect or avoid. It is the designation of a funeral director in advance of actual need. This selection is a task that should not be left for others to make. Your failure to investigate carefully and make intelligent selection may impose an unfair responsibility on the family. You buy life insurance in advance of need, draw a will, leave instructions for guidance on many things and your sound judgment should govern in the selection of a funeral director. Now, through the Funeral Service Bureau of America, you can make intelligent selection.

The Funeral Service Bureau of America has been created to safeguard the community's interests: 1—by telling the truth about the funeral service business; 2—by making available establishments conducted on modern business methods in which the savings from handling many cases are passed on to the public.

How Bureau Members Will Safeguard the Public's Interest

Each member establishment must be operated by men of character and business integrity. Each member establishment will tell the story of its service frankly, that the public may judge its value in the public interest.

Each bureau member must be a successful operator, doing sufficient business to permit low costs. Each member establishment must submit to periodic inspection to insure to the public the best service and merchandise values at lowest fair prices. Each member establishment must operate on cost-finding and planning principles similar in purpose to those employed by General Motors, United States Steel, or any successful local business, with the object of keeping costs at the lowest possible level.

Satisfactory Service for every purse

The Funeral Service Bureau is a great human organization seeking the public support that will enable it to be of greatest public usefulness. Each Bureau member knows that the public, when it learns the facts about any goods or service, is unerring in its preferences.

The Bureau Member in this city is

SERVICE

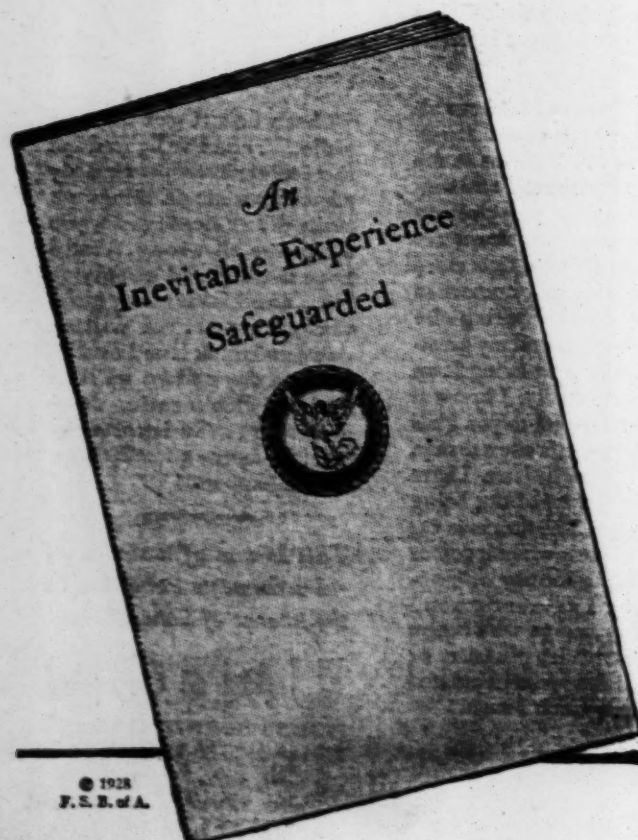

Analyzing the Funeral Service Bureau of America, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's Advisory Committee on Burial Survey said:

"Fortunately, our study was preceded by a movement within the industry looking toward a thorough study of the business problems  and to a program for the elimination of the more flagrant evils.  On October 8, 1927, the funeral directors who had installed cost-accounting met in Chicago and organized the Funeral Service Bureau of America. ***

"The strength of the new association  lies in, (1) adequate funds for administration, business and legal counsel and publicity, (2) its rigid qualifications for membership, with suspension or expulsion as penalties for deviation from the Bureau's business and ethical standards and (3) its provisions for full co-operation with governmental agencies, courts, insurance companies, civic, welfare and charitable agencies. Only firms of good reputation may apply for membership. ***

"It is apparent that funeral prices can never be lowered until the volume of business is concentrated in fewer hands.  We already see the beginning of such a movement in the organization of the Funeral Service Bureau. ***

The story of the Funeral Service Bureau of America is briefly told in a booklet entitled "An Inevitable Experience Safeguarded" and well worth your reading. Write or telephone to the local Bureau member whose name appears at the right. He will be glad to furnish you a copy.

50 HURT IN CRASH ON NEW YORK ELEVATED LINE

Heavily Loaded Seven-Car Train Plows Into Another That Was Stalled Ahead.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 30.—Fifty persons were injured when a heavily loaded seven-car elevated train crashed into a stalled train on the Sixth Avenue line at Columbus Avenue and Sixty-ninth Street last night. More than 1000 passengers on the two trains were thrown into a panic. Fire broke out in the wreckage.

Trains carrying home excursionists from seaside resorts, were running in close succession shortly before 10 p. m., when a fire started in the wheel box of a car two trains ahead of those that crashed. The passengers of the train in trouble were ordered out. The following train attempted to push the stalled train into the yards near the Polo Grounds. The heavy burden was too much and a short circuit resulted, throwing out the power on the whole line.

A following train also was stalled and then the fourth train traveling under its momentum after the current went off, crashed into the stalled train just ahead. The rear vestibule of one train and the front vestibule of the other were telescoped.

Already excited when the lights went off the passengers were thrown into a panic. Cries of two men, imprisoned in the wreckage, rose high over the screams of other passengers, many of whom were women and children.

The telescoped cars caught fire, but the flames were extinguished quickly. Then firemen extricated passengers and assisted them down ladders to the street.

The motorman of the rear train could not be found after the accident, and for a time it was feared he was caught in the wreckage. Three hours after the crash, however, police said they had cleared enough of the two colliding cars to feel sure he had not been killed. It was thought he had clambered out of his wrecked compartment and gone to some hospital to have his injuries treated.

DR. CHARLES HERBERT DIES WHILE AT WHEEL OF AUTO

Heart Attack Fatal to Dentist and Pharmacist; Funeral Will Be Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Dr. Charles Herbert, dentist and pharmacist, who died suddenly of a heart attack at the wheel of his automobile Saturday near Bourbon, Mo., while returning from an outing, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from an undertaking chapel at 2633 Cherokee street to Memorial Park Cemetery.

Dr. Herbert, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Mathilda Herbert, had gone to Onondaga Cave, near Leasburg, and was returning home Saturday afternoon when stricken. He died almost instantly and his automobile swerved into a ditch, turning over and righting itself. Mrs. Herbert escaped injury. A moment before Dr. Herbert had been chatting and joking. He had been a sufferer from high blood pressure for several years.

A graduate of Washington University, Dr. Herbert was a practicing dentist until five years ago, when he began devoting all his time to his drug store at 2600 Park avenue. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Miss Margaret Herbert, 25; a son, Elmer George Herbert, 29; four sisters and a brother.

200,000 TURNERS IN PARADE

Gymnastic Tournament at Cologne Closed With Pageant.

By the Associated Press.

COLOGNE, Germany, July 30.—The last day of the gymnastic tournament today found the city dominated by turners from all countries, the United States and South America republics furnishing the largest foreign contingents.

All traffic was suspended from 8 to 10 o'clock when 200,000 turners of both sexes, carrying banners paraded to the stadium. The guests of honor were received at the town hall by Chief Burgomaster Adenauer. Conspicuous among the floats was a Chilean wagon drawn by four horses. In the wagon was the inscription "The Friendship of Chile and Germany has not been marred even in the darkest hour."

UNION ELECTRIC EARNS 8 PCT. Mistakenly Stated to Be 18 Through Typographical Error.

A statement in the Sunday Post-Dispatch that Union Electric Light and Power Co. had earned 18 per cent in 1927 was a typographical error. The company earned 8 per cent on its own estimate of its valuation, approximately $59,900,000.

The Public Service Commission has ordered an audit of the company's books to determine whether $59,900,000 is a proper valuation of the plant.

To Oppose Johnson in California.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 29.—Charles H. Randall, a member of the City Council and former member of Congress from the Ninth California District, has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator in opposition to Senator Hiram Johnson. Randall sharply attacked the political record of Johnson and criticized his stand on the eighteenth amendment.

Health Authorities Recommend Use of Fly-Tox for Security

Science has proved conclusively that the fly is one of mankind's worst enemies. As a carrier of disease it has no equal. They transmit more than thirty different diseases, say eminent authorities. FLY-TOX not only kills insects easily and quickly, but it has other desirable features as well. It will not stain. FLY-TOX is harmless to mankind and animals. It leaves a pleasing odor that is clean and fragrant.

This marvelous insecticide was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. It is a scientific product made to meet today's requirements in a household insecticide.

It is a clear, clean and pure liquid put up in bottles with the blue label. Many imitations are seeking to take advantage of popularity gained by FLY-TOX. Do not be misled. Demand the genuine FLY-TOX.

WILSON ASSAILED BY MCRAWLEY FOR HIS DRY CLAIMS

Author of State Enforcement Act Demands That Opponent Answer Definite Questions on Wet Issue.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 29.—Demanding fairness in the Democratic gubernatorial campaign and a clear statement of the issues, A. L. McCawley, candidate for the nomination, in a statement issued here yesterday, assailed the dry claims of Francis M. Wilson, his opponent, and asked several direct questions as to his stand on the prohibition question.

It is the first time McCawley has mentioned his opponent in his campaign. The statement was issued in answer to a newspaper dispatch from Platte City, which pointed to Wilson as a champion of the Missouri bone-dry law and declared he broke a tie in the State Senate in 1913 in voting for the County Unit bill.

Reading from the official record of the Senate session in which the bill to enable counties to vote as a unit on local option was passed, McCawley pointed out that Senator Wilson refused to vote on the bill. "The record shows," McCawley said, "that Senator Wilson did not vote on a motion to make the bill a special order in the Senate on Wednesday, March 6, 1913, which was moved by Senator Craig of Nodaway County."

"The next day Senator Gardner of St. Louis offered an amendment which would exempt cities of 4000 population or over from voting with their county as a unit. This amendment failed for want of a majority. When the vote was taken on the amendment, Senator Wilson voted nay, which has been hailed as a vote for the dry."

"As the amendment was lost, it was a fine time for Senator Wilson to make a dry record when no decisive vote was required. When the bill was passed by the Senate, the record shows Senator Wilson did not vote."

"His Claim All Bunk." "Those familiar with the organization of the Senate in 1913 will remember Senator Wilson was the candidate of the wets for President pro-tem of the Senate, and his election was considered a victory for the wets by many prominent wet leaders."

"There is no record showing that Senator Wilson made any effort to pass the county unit bill. Sometimes a Senator will vote contrary to his personal opinions in representing his constituency. I have heard Senator Wilson has explained his so-called dry vote in that manner."

"The claim he voted to break a tie on the county unit bill is all bunk. A tie can occur in the Missouri Senate only when the Senators elected are evenly divided. Then, under the Constitution the Lieutenant-Governor is empowered to break the tie, and no one else has that authority."

"According to the Wilson logic, any Senator who casts the odd vote breaks a tie."

"Assuming Senator Wilson is as dry now as he was in 1913, why does he not state his position before the primary? I understand he has said he will discuss the prohibition question and take a definite position after the primary."

Asks Wilson Questions. "It requires no great amount of discussion for Senator Wilson to answer these simple questions:

"Do you favor the repeal of the Missouri bone dry law?" "Have you satisfied the wets that after the primary you will be a wet?"

"Is it your purpose to nullify the Missouri bone dry law, should you become Governor, by pardoning violators of its provisions?"

"These questions can be answered in a few words and Senator Wilson should answer them in all fairness to the voters, both wet and dry, and to an opponent who has treated him with the greatest degree of consideration."

"Senator Wilson is either all wet or all dry and he cannot be both at the same time."

"He has taken special precautions to advertise in the wet districts of St. Louis that more than 300 persons have been sent to the penitentiary for violations of the Missouri bone-dry law of which I am the author. At the same time he claims to be very dry in the country."

"By emphasizing in the wet sections the number of bone-dry law convictions, is Senator Wilson trying to create the impression that violators should not have been convicted and if he is elected he will pardon them?"

"While Senator Wilson is at it, he might go even further in enlightening the voters and answer these questions:

"If you are elected, will you favor imposition on the people of Missouri a sales tax, nuisance tax or a cigarette tax like that recently reinstated in Kansas City?"

"Do you favor a tax of 10 percent on all tobacco products?"

BAR ASSOCIATION TRAIN STRUCK BY FLYER, 37 INJURED

Andrew H. Watson of 24
Arundel Place, St. Louis,
One of Those Hurt Near Cortena, Cal.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30. — Thirty-seven men and women, on their way home from the American Bar Association's meeting at Seattle, Wash., were injured in a rear-end collision of trains at Cortena, Cal., yesterday. They were reported today to be recovering. The injured included well-known attorneys and their wives from many Eastern points.

The wreck occurred when the third section of the Bar Association's special train was struck by the southbound Cascade Limited, crack Southern Pacific train from Seattle to San Francisco, while the special was halted on the track for repairs. Seven members of the two train crews were hurt. Southern Pacific Co. officers announced only 16 of the injured remained in hospitals today.

Unofficial reports said the special had stopped after rounding a curve and had sent a flagman back to halt the Cascade Limited, supposed to be 10 minutes to the rear. The two trains had left Portland, Ore., half an hour apart, but the Cascade had been gaining.

Tried to Flag Flyer.
Passengers said the flagman had run back only a comparatively short distance when the Cascade appeared, running 50 miles an hour. The flagman placed torpedoes on the track and ran forward, waving his flag frantically.

The Cascade attempted to stop, but the locomotive smashed into the steel observation car, partly telescoping it. The special's wooden dining car, several lengths ahead, splintered under the impact.

The engine and tender, locked in the twisted steel of the observation car, teetered uncertainly in a cloud of steam for a few seconds. Then the two battered masses of steel turned over in the ditch.

Passengers and train crews worked together in extricating the injured from the wreckage. Windows were smashed to gain access to the overturned observation car. Every physician within 10 miles responded to emergency calls, and first aid was given at the scene of the wreck, before the injured were taken to the nearest hospitals.

None Fatally Injured.
Railroad officers announced none of the injured was fatally hurt. The injured list included: Mrs. Mary Hatch of Lamolite, Minn.; Mrs. E. L. Mason Jr., of Pawson, Md.; Mrs. H. L. Snyder of Pittsburg, Pa.

W. B. Balzell of Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. J. F. Kane of Pittsburg; R. C. Davis of Boston; Joseph V. Mitchell, New York; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Britt, New York; Thomas B. Cotter of Pittsburg, N. Y.

Clarence Scott of Quincy, Ill.; James F. Kane of Pittsburg; Willard Carr; John Shea of Dayton, O.; S. M. McElroy of Seattle; Mrs. Peacock of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. William A. Scott of Pittsburg; Wendell Bronson of Springfield, Mass.

Andrew H. Watson, an attorney, 24 Arundel place, St. Louis, wrenched shoulder.

George H. Brown of Brookline, Mass.; and wife.

Hin H. Tye of Williamsburg, Ky. and wife.

E. M. Stevens of Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Stevens.

William B. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hall of New Haven, Conn.

Aaron Fybus of Buffalo, N. Y.

James H. Bridges of Henderson, N. C.

Miss Elizabeth Hepburn of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Eloise Clement of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Adeline McCormick of Chicago.

Grace Hoxler, train maid, broken back.

The Southern Pacific company announced an investigation would be started today by a company board.

WILSON ASSAILED BY M'CAWLEY FOR HIS DRY CLAIMS

manufactured in Missouri? Such a tax must necessarily be taken out of the pay checks of employees in such factories, for it could not be passed on to the consumer in competition with manufacturers outside the State who do not pay a tax.

"Do you favor taxing each child and adult in the State 10 per cent of the admitting price to moving picture theaters?"

"Do you favor a tax of 10 per cent on admittances to the cleanest of American sports—baseball games?"

McCawley declared the voters of Missouri would not have a clear conception of the issues in the primary campaign until Wilson answers his questions.

C. M. HAY PLEADS FOR RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

Candidate for Senatorial Nomination Speaks at City Club.

Charles M. Hay, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, in a speech today at a luncheon at the City Club, given by a group of his friends, expressed his views on religious tolerance, apparently in answer to campaign insinuations that he was a bigot and had Ku Klux Klan sympathies.

"The presence here today of Jews and drays, Catholics and Protestants, Jews and Gentiles," he said, "makes me feel not only that I have conducted my campaign, but that the spirit in which I have tried to live has not been misunderstood. I have my convictions and have fought for them, but I have at all times acknowledged the right of others to hold contrary views. I have had my faith and have tried to cherish it, but I have never denied to others the right to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience."

"I have counted myself as one of the fortunate of humanity that I live in a land where no man can deny me the right to seek after the eternal things in such manner as I please, and the right to which I cling for myself I accord to every human being beneath the American flag."

"By the action of the party at the Houston convention the Democrats of the nation gave vital force and meaning to the declaration of the Constitution that 'no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.' 'If as a result of this election there could be settled once and forever the question of religious tolerance in America what greater contribution to the sum total of good will among our people and to the spirit of brotherhood in the earth could Americans make?'"

Hay said that throughout the campaign he had avoided all personalities and that he had received more than 500 letters from Missouri Democrats approving his course when he refused recently to be drawn into a personal controversy. His refusal was to Senator Reed's attack on him. "I have endeavored to contribute to the spirit of harmony and good will within the party," he said. "By making a campaign devoid of personalities or appeals to passion and prejudice."

CHILD, 3, HIT BY AUTO, SUFFERS SKULL FRACTURE

Parents Say Driver Carried Boy Into House and Gave Name of East St. Louis Man.

Joseph Rausan Jr., 3 years old, 1313 South Eighth street, was hit by an automobile at Seventh and Hickory streets yesterday afternoon. His skull was fractured. His parents told police the motorist, driving a car bearing an Illinois license, carried the boy home and gave the name of an East St. Louis man. The owner of the car, however, denied he was the driver, explaining some other person must have taken out his car and given his name.

100 FLEE FIRE AT MOVIE SHOW IN UNION STATION

Film Ignites and Causes $500 Damage on Second Floor of Building.

A film fire in the Union Station moving picture show, at the south end of the second floor, drove a hundred patrons into the hall and caused damage of $500 about 9:15 o'clock last night. The film was ignited, it is thought, by a spark from the nearby machine.

William Berger, the operator, at first attempted to put out the fire. Failing, he shouted a warning to patrons, and ran to turn in an alarm.

Two thousand feet of film was destroyed.

Woman Driver Hits Five Boys, by Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—Russell Brevington, 14 years old, son of a State prison guard, was killed when an automobile driven by Miss Evelyn True of Columbia left the concrete pavement on Highway No. 63, across the Mississippi River from here, and ran down five boys yesterday. Lynna Bradley, 11, is in the hospital in serious condition with a fractured skull, and Harold Hardiman, 14, Negro, also is seriously injured. Another white boy and Negro youth were hurt, but not seriously.

JAPANESE CHRISTIANS STOP HERE ON TOUR

Party of 51 Entertained Over Sunday by Members of Church Federation.

Fifty-one Japanese educators, clergymen, bankers, business and industrial leaders, including several women, all Christians, were in St. Louis yesterday. They are making a three months' tour of the United States and were entertained by members of the Church Federation.

The delegation, headed by the Rev. S. Iwamura of Tokio, comprised about one-third of the Japanese delegation at the recent World's Sunday School Convention in Los Angeles, Cal. They came to St. Louis from Kansas City and last night went to Columbus, O. They plan to visit Washington, New York and other Eastern cities, returning to Seattle to sail for home Aug. 28.

The local churches set the day aside as "Japanese day." Representatives of Sunday schools and the Chamber of Commerce met the visitors at the Union Station and escorted them to Hotel Chase for breakfast. Thereafter the party was divided into groups of two and taken to various churches of the city after which each group was the dinner guest of some family active in the Church Federation.

The Rev. Mr. Iwamura spoke at the breakfast and also preached a sermon at a union service at Pilgrim Congregational Church. The Rev. Mr. H. Baba of Kobe, another leader of the party, preached at Centenary Methodist Church.

At 3 p. m. the visitors were gathered again at the Church Federation headquarters in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. where a reception was held. Then they visited Eden Seminary in Webster Groves where the Girl Reserves served an outdoor dinner and the young people of many churches presented a pageant.

The men of the party all wore the customary American business suits while the women, with one exception, were clad in colorful Japanese gowns and cork-soled Japanese shoes. One young woman wore pumps and the short American skirt, although her heavy black hair was dressed in the Japanese fashion.

The visitors departed at midnight loaded with souvenirs, including Lindbergh medals, and photographs of the flyer and his ship.

Japanese Delegation Visits Lindbergh Exhibit.

Fifteen Japanese students and teachers under the leadership of Kaku Nakamura, editor and publisher of the magazine "Japanese Abroad," arrived in St. Louis today in Nakamura's third annual student tour of the United States.

The party arrived in San Francisco July 29 from Yokohama and will sail Sept. 9 from Victoria, B. C., after visiting about 20 leading cities. In St. Louis they are guests of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Arriving at 7:30 a. m. the party breakfasted at the Downtown "Y" and remained there until noon when a luncheon was held in their honor. The program included a sight-seeing tour, with a stop at Jefferson Memorial to see the Lindbergh trophies, the Browns-Philadelphia baseball game and the Municipal Opera. Tomorrow they will inspect industries.

Nakamura, the originator of the idea of Japanese student tours, has brought five parties to this country, including two which visited the west coast. Next year he plans to escort a party of students across the United States to Europe.

WOMEN AROUSED OVER CAMPAIGN, SAYS MRS. HERT

G. O. P. Vice Chairman Says They Are More Interested Than Ever In Issues.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—On her departure for Chicago to hold conferences preparatory to the Aug. 4 organization meeting of Republican National Committeemen and women from Middle Western states, Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the national committee, declared that the women of her party in the Eastern and New England states have never been "so aroused and so determined to win as this year."

"I have not had a single unfavorable report from an Eastern or New England state," she said, "and from the preliminary reports that have come in, I believe the same thing will be found true in the Middle and Far Western states."

"Women are more interested than ever in the issues of the campaign," she added. "Our plan of reaching the home makers of the country this year, of interesting the independent woman and the woman who heretofore has not voted, has found tremendous response."

"Every day during my stay here, I have received pledges from Democratic women that this year they are going to vote the Republican ticket. There is no doubt in my mind that the women of the nation this year will vote overwhelmingly Republican."

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—The case against Jose de Leon Toral, 23-year-old art student who assassinated President-elect Alvaro Obregon, is ready for the courts. The case was brought over to the District Court at San Angelo, where the crime was committed, but it was thought possible today that the case might be transferred to a court in Mexico City.

Antonio Zertuche, who made Chief of Police after the crime, stated he would make public the results of his investigation when the assassin had been turned over to the civil authorities.

Zertuche desired that the players get a trial rather than a military one as has been customary in

The War Department announced that 13 insurgents had been slain and a number captured in a clash near the town of Rio Verde in the State of San Luis Potosi last week. Two Federal soldiers were killed.

Excelsior said today that no changes in the Cabinet were contemplated before Nov. 30. The present provisional secretaries will continue to serve.

Prepare Food In the Usual Way

—then place in the Pressure Cooker. Allow one-third the usual time for cooking. Let a small flame bring the pressure to 15 pounds—then turn it low. The pressure prevents intermingling of flavors.

Advantages of the Pressure Cooker

- 1—Cooks in one-third usual time required, due to pressure.
- 2—Food retains all mineral salts, flavor and vitamins.
- 3—Breaks down starch cells, making for easy digestion.
- 4—Endorsed by U. S. Agricultural Dept. and health authorities.
- 5—Built to endure a lifetime of heavy cast aluminum.

BURGHLEY OF ENGLAND IS VICTOR IN HURDLES

Associated Press.
OLYMPIC STADIUM, AMSTERDAM, July 30.—Losing out in all of today's final events in the Olympic track and field competition, the United States athletes saw the Olympic 100-meter champion go to Canada, the 400-meter runner to England and the hammer throw to Ireland, all in upset victories.

The best the Americans could do in these events was to place fourth in the dash, second and third in the hurdles and third, fifth and sixth in the hammer.

The winners were comparative novices in two of the three events while Lord Darry Burghley, an Englishman who won the 400-meter hurdles, was listed as one of the most promising contenders but given little chance to beat the American, Morgan Taylor, who was defending his championship in 1924. Taylor was only third, being beaten by his countryman Frank Cuhel of Iowa as well as Burghley. The time was 2:5 seconds which was not nearly as good as Taylor has done, but was that considering the track.

Canadian Wins Sprint.
Percy Williams, British Columbia schoolboy, sprang the big surprise in the 100 meters by defeating the world's best, including the highly rated Americans, Frank Swift and Bob McAllister, who had no better than fourth and fifth respectively. McAllister, who was of South African, who was in the world's best, tentatively finished so close together that the award of places had to be postponed until movies of the race could be studied. Jack Long, British Negro, and George Summers, the German, took second and third in the race which was run in 19 4-5 seconds 1-5 slower than the Olympic record.

High-Americans had been romping off with the hammer throw championship for Uncle Sam steadily in past Olympics, but this time an Irishman, throwing Ireland, won when Pat O'Callaghan got the ball away 184 feet 6 inches, to beat Olan Skold of Sweden by four inches. Edmund Mack, the best of the Americans, was a poor third, more than 7 feet behind, while his teammates, Gwyn and Frank Connors, finished the Italian, Foggelli, who was fourth.

The 100-meter dash witnessed the worst setback American sprinters ever received in Olympic competition when they failed to get one of the three medals. Two stars preceded the race, and the second, made by Wykoff, seemed to rattle the young Americans.

McAllister started poorly and was unable to close the gaps as he had done previously, despite the fact that the time was slower than in either of the semifinals. The Olympic record was not equaled.

Williams, off to a brilliant start, showed the terrific closing drive this rivals in a sensational dash as he crossed the line a full yard in front of Jack London, the British Negro. George Lammer, the German, was third a step ahead of Wykoff.

Lord Burghley was off to a good start and led virtually all the way, staggering start made it difficult to gauge the positions until runners entered the stretch where all six finalists were closely matched.

Burghley's Sprint Wins.
The American pair were neck and neck with the Briton over the hurdle, but Lord Burghley, mounted at the end and won by yards from Cuhel while Taylor was inches behind. The time was 2:5 seconds.

Although the Americans were beaten by defeat in the event had felt sure of winning, the Englishman's triumph was cheered heartily by the Yankee contingent as well as throughout the stands as "Lord Darry" plus cheered and smiling, was carried off the field on the shoulders of his teammates.

Cuhel, the stronger of the two Americans appeared the victim of a poor start, but was outrun in the

RUTH HITS HIS 41ST
HOMER, BUT YANKS
LOSE TO INDIANS, 4-2
By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., July 30.—
Cleveland won another game from the Yankees today by a 4 to 2 score. Babe Ruth's forty-first home run of the season, coming in the sixth inning with one on base, accounted for both New York runs.
Today's homer puts Ruth seven home runs ahead of his 1927 performance.
On July 30 last year he had 34 homers and did not get his forty-first until Aug. 27 in the 123d game of the 1927 schedule. Today's game was the ninety-ninth the Yankees have played this year.

Hargrave, Detroit catcher, was the victim of a peculiar accident in the fourth inning of yesterday's game with Boston.

Hargrave was on first when Tay-ner grounded to Russell. The Red Sox pitcher forced Hargrave at second and when Gerber threw to first in an effort to complete a double play, the ball struck Har-grave in the head. He collapsed beside second base and it was several minutes before he regained consciousness. Hargrave finished the game behind the bat.

Dempsy May Referee Bout
BOSTON, July 30.—Officials of the Argonne A. A. said today that Jack Dempsey has been asked to referee the Harold Mays-Ernie field tomorrow night. Plans were on foot to ask the Massachusetts

Boxing Commission for an honorary referee's license.

COCHET BEATS
BILL TILDEN IN STRAIGHT SETS,
9-7, 8-6, 6-4

By the Associated Press.
ROLAND GARROS, STADIUM,
AUTEUIL, France, July 30.—America's campaign to recapture the Davis Cup from the French failed today when Henri Cochet defeated William T. Tilden in the deciding match of the series in straight sets by scores of 9-7, 8-6, 6-4.

The French kept the cup as a result of singles victories for Cochet over both Hennessey and Tilden and a doubles triumph for Cochet and Jean Borotra over Tilden and Frank Hunter. Cochet thus was the hero of the challenges. Tilden, with a perfect record of three victories.

Lacoste squared the match with Hennessey by winning the second set, 6-1.
Lacoste defeated Hennessey in the fifth and last match of the challenge round series by scores of 4-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-2, thus making the final score of the series four matches for France to one for the United States.

Tilden's victory over Lacoste on the first day of play was the only match which the Americans won.
The team's defeat was the most one-sided an American Davis Cup aggregation has suffered since the clean sweep of the Australian team over McLoughlin, Larned and Wright in 1911. When the French took the cup last year they won by three matches to two.

Big Bill put up a gallant fight against his brilliant little French opponent, but showed the effects of the losing five set doubles match in which he participated yesterday.
"I played as good tennis as I did against La Coste on Friday," said Tilden. "That's the best I can do.
It appears I can't defeat both of the French players the same year. In 1927 La Coste defeated me in Davis Cup play, but I won from Cochet. This year it is the other way around."

Ovation for Cochet.
There was a tremendous ovation from the thousands in the stands as Cochet won the final point for France. The victory was all the sweeter for the athletes of the tri-colored, as it was won over the best of the American could put in the court. Tilden having been allowed to play at their request despite charges of violation of the amateur-player-writer rule pending against him. Even in the face of his decisive defeat at Cochet's hands, Tilden stood out as a heroic figure.

By beating Lacoste on Friday he had an even break in singles duels with his great French rivals and yesterday covered three-quarters of the court in a gallant attempt to capture the doubles.
France was leading two to one when Cochet and Tilden started play and it looked like a hopeless task that the American was undertaking to everyone but Tilden, who maintained his never-say-die spirit until the end.

Cochet wore Out Tilden.
Cochet was at his whirlwind best today and gave Big Bill the worst beating he ever received in Davis Cup play. Never before had Tilden been trimmed in straight sets in a challenge round for the trophy.
Realizing that his best chance lay in wearing down the American, the canny young player from Lyons kept him on the run constantly, deceiving the sets and stretching them out interminably. Tilden made a brave attempt to win the second set and seven times needed only one point to gain it and square the match, but each time failed, as Cochet steadily overhauled him.
The third set saw Tilden again battering fiercely, this time in the hope of forcing the match to four sets which would have given him the intermission at the end of the third set in which to rest. Cochet had other plans, however, and finished him off before the American

Put An End To Eczema Tortured Skin
Remedy That Costs But Little At Any Drug Store Never Disappoints.

When your skin itches and is fiery and eczema tortures you night and day why not go to your drug store and get a 25 cent box of Peter's Ointment?
For many years its mighty healing power has been of great benefit to sufferers from eczema and we are sure that one box will prove it to you.
Read what Temple Carter of Gary, Ind., writes—It proves what a blessing Peter's Ointment is for skin troubles.
"My whole face was ruined with liver blotches, blackheads and patches. I could get no relief from anything I used. After using the sample box of Peter's Ointment the ugly skin began to disappear, so I got a box from my drug store. My skin is now like glass, smooth and clear, and I look like I did 15 years ago. With pleasure you are permitted to publish these wonderful results. I cannot praise Peter's Ointment enough. I hope this will help all skin sufferers."

MINISTER'S SON KILLS MAN IN ROW OVER 25 CENTS

Daniel Merrill, 25, Charged With Murder of James Porter, 58, Manager of Rolla Co-Operative.

ROLLA, Mo., July 29.—Daniel Merrill, 25 years old, son of the Rev. William Merrill, a Methodist minister here, is held without bond on a charge of first degree murder in the death of James Porter, 58 years old, manager of the Rolla Live Stock Shippers' Association, who was beaten to death Friday night following an argument with Merrill over a difference of 25 cents in wages due the latter.
According to witnesses at an inquest Saturday, Merrill, who is six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds, became angry when Porter handed him a check for $2.75 for pitching hay on Porter's farm, three miles north of Rolla. Merrill, the witnesses said, demanded 25 cents additional and, when told by Porter that other harvest hands were paid but $2.50, ordered Porter to remove his glasses. Merrill then knocked Porter down and, placing his knees on the chest of the prostrate man, continued to beat him until dragged away by other farm hands. Porter died a few minutes later.
Merrill, who is held at the Phelps County jail, will be given a preliminary hearing Aug. 10. Funeral services for Porter will be held from the Rolla Presbyterian Church under Masonic auspices to-morrow morning.

DR. M. F. STONE, INSTRUCTOR AT JOHNS HOPKINS U., DIES

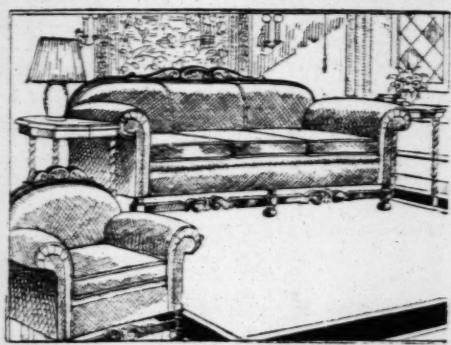

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, July 29.—Dr. Martin F. Stone, 43 years old, instructor at Johns Hopkins University in clinical medicine, former superintendent of Budwood Sanatorium at Lawson, Md., and internationally known authority on tuberculosis, died here yesterday after an illness of several months.
Coming to Baltimore in 1926 as special student in medicine at Johns Hopkins, he was appointed head of the sanatorium a year later. He held that position until 1921, and then took the position which he held at his death.
During the war he was employed by the Government as consultant in lung diseases and made a survey of all Government tuberculosis hospitals. He was medical director of clinics for the American Red Cross in Italy, resigning when the armistice was signed.

SECTIONALISM IN U. S. IS ENDED, SAYS COOLIDGE

"We Are a United Nation," He Declares in Dedication Monument to Gettysburg Hero.

PRAISES ADVANCES OF THE 'NEW SOUTH'

Condemns Those Who Kept Animosity Alive After War, for Political Reasons.

By the Associated Press.

CANNON FALLS, Minn., July 29.—Beside a new monument rising from the Civil War, President Coolidge pronounced his denunciation here for the end of sectionalism between the North and South and spoke the hymn of a reunited nation.

Dedicating the memorial to Col. William Colvill, Union hero of the Battle of Gettysburg, yesterday the President emphasized the recovery of the "new South" and the common interest of each section in the other.

"The day of sectionalism is passed," he said. "We are a united nation."

Mr. Coolidge denounced those who "for many years" kept alive sectional animosities for political advantage and declared that era had ended. Otherwise, there was no reference to politics in his Sabbath day address. The first he has delivered since leaving Washington.

Uplift of Labor by War. He mentioned, however, the uplift of labor after the World War and significantly recalled the practical unanimity of the North in helping to pass the recent flood control bill for the Mississippi River.

"One result of the war (Civil) which retarded our national progress for many years was the bitterness, hatred and sectional animosities that it left in its wake," he said. "For many years, both for the North and for the South, these were unfortunately stimulated and kept alive for the political advantage that the sponsors of such action hoped to secure. The time has long since passed when to hold or express such hostile sentiments should ever be permitted to work to the advantage of any one."

"Those who resort to them should find that their standing in the public confidence is thereby seriously impaired. While isolated outbreaks may continue to occur in responsible quarters, I am firmly convinced that the responsible elements both in the North and the South each look with pride and satisfaction upon the brilliant contribution which the other is making to the national welfare and are just as eager to help the other as they are to help themselves."

The President looked back on the Civil war as inevitable. He realized that "some of the ablest minds of the country honestly differed" in interpretations of the nation's demarcation line separating authority of the states and of the Federal Union. It was "humanly impossible," he declared, for either section of itself to furnish adequate solution and it could be accomplished only through an immeasurable sacrifice made in the tears of our women and the blood of our men.

The war, he continued, left the North depleted and the South "economically prostrate."

Citing the increases in bank deposits, public improvements, public schools outlay and manufactured products in the South in recent years, he declared "It is perfectly apparent that in progress and prosperity the South is going forward in a way which it could never have done under the old system."

Members of President's Party. The chief executive was accompanied from Superior by Mrs. Coolidge and his son, John. At St. Paul, Gov. and Mrs. Christianson, Representative and Mrs. Walter Newton and Mrs. Frank Kellogg, wife of the Secretary of State, boarded the train and rode to Cannon Falls with the presidential party.

Leaving from Hawthorne, only a few miles from the summer White House, the President's special train met large crowds at all stations through which it passed. At the few stops the train made, President Coolidge appeared on the observation platform of his car.

President Coolidge was greeted at the station here by Senator Shipstead and a committee including Congressmen Furrow, Clague, Anderson, Maas, Newton, Selvig, Knutson, Goodwin, Kvale and Carr.

FINDS TWO WHOLLY NEW ACCOUNTS OF CRUCIFIXION

Syrian Orientalist in London Publishes Translations of Versions Supposedly Written by the Sage Gamaliel.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON,
London Correspondent of the Post-
Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, July 30.—Two wholly new versions of the story of the crucifixion, for the first time translated from Eastern texts, have just been issued by the well-known Syrian Orientalist, Dr. Alphonse Mingana, through the John Rylands library, of which he is librarian, in Manchester, with introductions by Dr. Rendell Harris, professor of theology in the University of Leyden and one of the foremost living biblical scholars.

The Hebrew sage, Gamaliel, contemporary of the Apostles, is thought by Dr. Mingana to be the author of the bulk of these two narratives, and the translation has been made for the first time, Dr. Mingana states, "from Garshuni, Arabic in Syrian characters, as it is found in the manuscripts." The Garshuni original is published with the translation.

The new documents, Dr. Mingana and Prof. Harris declare, contain material derived from Coptic sources, dating back to the early Christians in Egypt.

Gamaliel, the evident author, according to the texts, of "The Lament of the Virgin" and "The Martyrdom of Pilate," was president of the Sanhedrin in Jerusalem shortly after the time of Christ. In the Acts of the Apostles, Chapter V, it is told how his voice was lifted in the Sanhedrin in favor of the followers of Jesus who were threatened with death, and he is called a Pharisee "in reputation among all the people." The Apostle Paul speaks proudly in the twenty-second chapter of Acts of having sat at the feet of Gamaliel.

The new text opens with the Virgin's lament over the body of her son on the cross. The deflection of all the disciples is shown. Finally she persuades John to take her to Calvary. There are passages here of great beauty.

The opening passages of the lament follow: "In the name of the Father, of the Son and of the Holy Ghost we will write a discourse composed by Cyriacus, Bishop of the town of Babana, on the merits of the Virgin, our Lady Mary, and her affectionate weeping on the day of the crucifixion of Our Lord, when, on the day of His holy resurrection, she went to the door of the sepulcher of her Son and did not rounded by thousands of men and women. The sun beat down mercilessly and although thousands were gathered closely around the sharp rise of ground upon which the ceremonies were held, fully as many rested under nearby shade trees, trusting to the loud speakers to bring the words of the speakers a block away.

A short invocation, a song, the introduction of the President by Gov. Christenson, and then came the Chief Executive's address in the absence of Assistant Secretary of War C. E. Robbins, the unveiling of the memorial tablet by Mrs. Coolidge followed immediately the address by her husband.

After a short drive back to the station, through lines of National Guardsmen, the President boarded his train and started back to his summer headquarters.

IRVING FISHER FOR HOOVER
Yale Economist Objects to Smith's Tammany Hall Connections.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Prof. Irving Fisher, Yale economist, in a statement to Republican National Headquarters said he intended to support Hoover for the presidency.

He gave among his reasons for supporting Hoover the latter's record as an engineer, administrator, humanitarian, practical economist and "genuine dry."

"As an independent voter, Prof. Fisher said he would like to elect in Roosevelt in 1904, Taft in 1908 and Wilson in 1912 and 1916, who enjoyed a personal friendship with all three, and who, since then, has voted for the Democratic candidates for president. I shall, in 1928, support Herbert Hoover for president." Prof. Fisher declared that Gov. Smith "is likeable as a personality," but said that he could never vote for him "because he is linked to Tammany hall and liquor."

TO EXPLORE PAMIR PLATEAU
Russian and German Expedition
Sets Out From Osh, Siberia.

By the Associated Press.

OSH, Siberia, July 30.—A Russian and German scientific expedition headed by Krilenko, prosecutor for the Soviet Union, and Gorbunoff, secretary of the Council of Peoples Commissars, left Osh yesterday on a five month exploration trip to investigate the great Pamir plain, an extension of the Tibetan highlands. The expedition includes the Soviet meteorologist Korjensky, the geologist Sherbakoff, and the German geologist Remiers.

find His body, because He had risen up from the dead. May His blessing be with us. Amen."

The manuscript quotes the Virgin's lament at great length, contrasting her sorrow and the reason thereof with that of Jacob over his son, Joseph, but the most striking passages tell of the panic of the Apostles and disciples at the time of the seizure of Christ and His crucifixion.

Except From the Translation.
Telling of that, the manuscript recites:

"The Virgin uttered this affectionate wailing in the house of John when they brought to her the sad news of her son. Then she began to look for one of His holy disciples to walk with her, but she did not find any, because all had fled and forsaken Him from fear of the Jews."

"She asked for Peter to accompany her, and she was informed that from his fear of the high priest he had fled with her Son, saying, 'I do not know him,' and that he had gone and hidden himself from Him."

"She asked for James, the brother of the Lord, and she was informed that he had fled and left Him on the mount, where He was seized. She asked for Andrew, and she was informed that he had never come with Him to town at all."

"She asked for Thomas, and she was informed that he had thrown his garments and fled. She asked for the son of Thomas and she was informed that he was the first of His brethren to flee."

"She asked for Philip, and she was informed that when he saw the torches burning he was terrified and fled."

"She asked for James, the brother of John, and she was informed that he never even looked at Him."

"She asked for Matthew, and she was informed that he was afraid of the Jews more than all others, as they had a special grudge against him from the time he used to be a tax collector, and he had, therefore, fled in the darkness of the night."

"In short, she asked for all of them, and she did not find a single one of them except John who had accompanied Him to the Krannon and the Golgotha."

Then the Virgin resumed her weeping and wailing, because she was not able to find any of the Apostles, the disciples of her Son, except John."

LAW PLACING $100 FEE VALUE ON STOCK UPHELD

Supreme Court Ruling Fixes Principle for State Payment on

No Par Shares.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—Validity of a State law placing an arbitrary valuation of $100 a share on the no par value stock of corporations, for the purpose of computing fees to be paid to the State upon incorporation, or increasing the amount of capital stock, was upheld today by the Missouri Supreme Court en banc, in a test case instituted by the Corinne Realty Co. of St. Louis.

The principle sustained—that the Legislature has the right to fix such a value as a condition of the right to issue shares of stock—is similar to a ruling by the court last February, upholding a law placing an arbitrary valuation of $100 a share on no par value stock, for assessment of the State corporation franchise tax. That ruling was in a test case filed by the Pierce Petroleum Co. of St. Louis.

Judge W. T. Ragland, who wrote the opinion handed down today, held the law fixing the valuation of $100 a share, for computing corporation fees, irrespective of any lower book value, was within the powers of the Legislature. He held that the State, in granting corporations the right to issue without par value, may impose such conditions as it chooses, and that if the conditions are regarded as too onerous by the corporations, "the privilege must be foregone."

The corporation law provides that upon incorporation, a fee of $50 must be paid for the first $50,000 in authorized capital stock, and $5 for each additional $10,000 in stock, the value for no par value stock being calculated on the fixed basis of $100 a share. The same rates apply to increases in capital stock.

CUBA ENTERS PEACE PARLEY

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, July 30.—Cuba's formal acceptance of Secretary Kellogg's invitation to a Western Hemisphere peace conference in Washington Dec. 10, has been forwarded.

President Machado said he would designate Dr. Antonio Sanchez de Rustamante, chairman of the sixth Pan-American conference, and Dr. Orestes Ferrara, Cuban Ambassador to Washington, as delegates. Dr. Gustavo Gutierrez will probably be an alternate.

BOND ISSUE URGED TO AVERT FLYING FIELD MONOPOLY

Maj. Albert Bond Lambert
Says Tract He Offers to City Is Only One Available.

TWO GROUPS HAVE OFFERED TO BUY

Declares That Without Airport, St. Louis Has Little to Offer 91 Airplane Factories.

Unless it passes the $2,000,000 airport bond issue proposal at the primary election Aug. 7, St. Louis will be faced with the imminent possibility of a private monopoly of its air terminal facilities, and its aeronautical growth will be stuffed in its infancy.

Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, pioneer flyer and sponsor of the airport idea, today told a group of civic and business leaders at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce.

Maj. Lambert declared, in supplementary remarks to a Post-Dispatch reporter, that already two groups had offered to buy Lambert-St. Louis Field from him and pointed out that with the airfield in the hands of private interests, St. Louis would be deprived of the only site available for a first-class airport.

The 244-acre field is now owned by Maj. Lambert, who has agreed to sell it to the city for $130,000, the price he paid for it, and far lower than its actual value. Maj. Lambert also holds options on approximately 400 additional acres which he is to turn over to the city without charge, if the bond issue is approved.

400-Acre Site Needed.
"The topographical nature of the St. Louis district precludes the promiscuous selection of flying fields," he said. "Certain requisites are imperative for recognition by the Department of Commerce, including flat well-drained land of at least 400 acres, railroad and street car facilities, water, power and light."

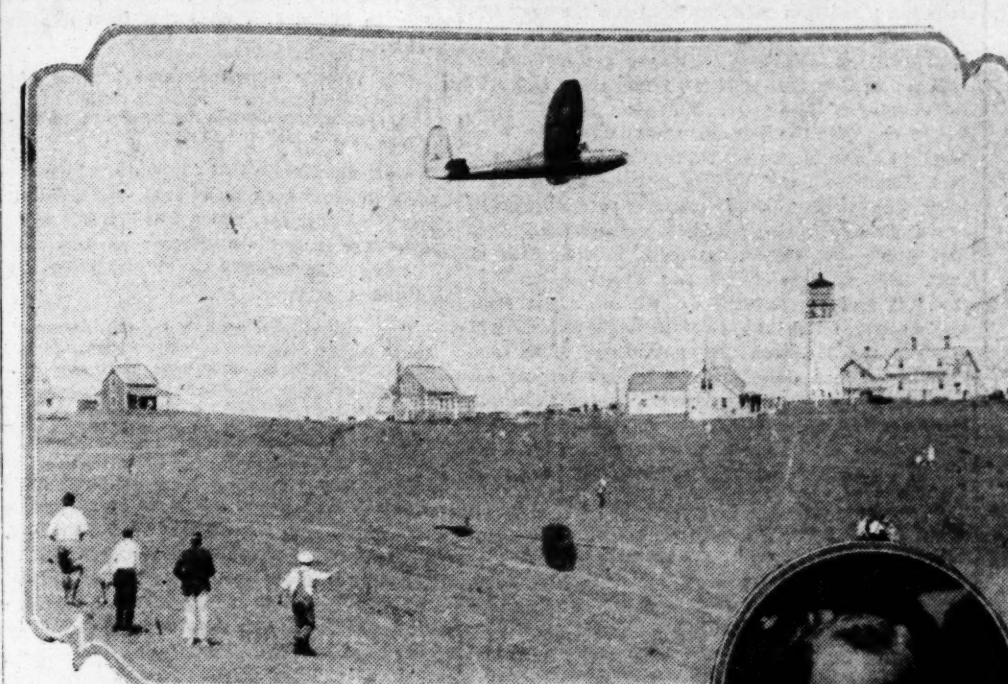

"These Lambert-St. Louis Field has in the surveys of the last several years no other site has been found either in the county or city. To create a combination of advantages such as the field has, would cost five times the amount of our bond issue."

"Hence," he said, "if the field is allowed to revert to private ownership, St. Louis will be shorn of its only air terminal. The field is a tempting object for any closed organization that would like to reap great profits by monopolizing its facilities to the exclusion of competition."

"None of us doubts, I think, that air transportation is soon to take its place beside the railroad as a means of everyday travel. Already the Pennsylvania, New York Central, and Santa Fe are ready to embark on co-ordinated air-rail services. We may be sure the other big roads will follow."

"In such a situation, where would St. Louis be with its only airport in the hands of private interests? Conceivably, such a monopoly might drive air transportation from St. Louis to some other city with better facilities."

Competition With Other Cities.
Maj. Lambert recalled that the railroads entering St. Louis in the last century, were unable to pay for separate terminals and finally consolidated to build one. He pointed out that air lines are in a similar situation, and declared that the logical solution of their problem is the construction of a municipal terminal, especially as other cities, destined to compete with St. Louis for air supremacy, are doing the same thing.

"Furthermore," he added, "there are now 91 airplane factories in the United States. Each is crowded to capacity because of the phenomenal demand for aircraft, and most of them are looking for new sites. What can St. Louis offer them without adequate airport facilities? Nothing but a good geographical location that loses its value when no first-class field is available."

The campaign of the Municipal Airport Bond Issue Committee for passage of the issue will reach its climax Friday at a luncheon meeting at Hotel Statler of the officers of civic, business and professional organizations. At the meeting, the committee hopes to obtain a pledge of active support from the organizations represented. More than 50 organizations, including political bodies and labor unions, have endorsed the bond issue.

EMIGRATION GRAFT EXPOSED

ROME, July 30.—The police of Naples, after a lengthy investigation, have arrested a gang of emigration grafters headed by a hair dresser named Theodore Esposito. The hair dresser is charged with forging passports and immigration permits for ports in the United States. Passengers carrying his forged documents have been found in large numbers on the trans-Atlantic liners Presidente Wilson and Duilio.

Esposito also is charged with aiding and abetting Arturo Labriola, former Labor Minister, to escape to France with false papers.

MEXICANS KILL THREE REBELS

One Slain in Auto at Colima, Others Executed; Four Women Held.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—Papers found on a man who was killed in an automobile at Colima disclosed the headquarters of a society supplying arms and ammunition to insurgents in the State of Jalisco, according to newspaper dispatches from Colima. The dispatches state that two other occupants of the automobile were court martialed and executed and that four women, located by the papers found on the dead man, have been arrested.

The machine was halted as it was passing through Colima because the military authorities thought its appearance was suspicious. Examination showed that it was carrying arms and ammunition. One of the men shot at the soldiers with a pistol and was immediately killed. His name was not given but he was described as "a local agitator." The others in the car, Federico Santillan Ramirez and Manuel Hernandez Mendonza, were court martialed and shot. The bodies of all three were exhibited in the plaza near the Colima Cathedral.

NICARAGUAN PARTIES REJECTED

By the Associated Press.

MANGUA, July 30.—Nicaraguans in voting for President, Nov. 4, will have to choose between the nominees of the two old line parties—Adolfo Benard, Conservative, and Gen. Jose Maria Moncada, Liberal.

Applications of Republican Liberals and Republican Conservatives too be recognized as parties, were rejected by the National Election Board, composed of Brigadier-General Frank R. McCoy, chairman, and one member each from the Conservative and Liberal parties.

Prospects for a record-breaking flight seemed so good that his two associates, Captain Paul Roehre and Major Vergue Chapelle, directed the camp employees to prepare bonfires which might serve as beacons at night.

Hesselbach explained a change in the wind had made it imperative for him to land or face the alternative of having to soar out to sea.

GENEVA, July 30.—The creation of economic conditions in Liberia which will result in the establishment of a "plantation system" similar to that which made slavery profitable in the Southern states is the deliberate policy of American rubber interests, backed officially by Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Such is the declaration made in the petition officially placed before the Mandates Commission of the League of Nations asking that the situation be looked into. The inquiry into the Liberian rubber interests of American capital was made by Raymond Buell, former professor of history at Harvard University, now affiliated with the Foreign Policy Association.

According to Buell, who spent a year in Africa investigating the United States Government has adopted a plan entirely different from that of the French and British. These two nations, although bitterly attacked at times in the past for their exploitation of natives, have deliberately excluded European owned plantations from West Africa because the systems are prejudicial to the interests of the natives.

Says Forced Labor Is Inevitable.
The United States, dictating Liberia's administration, is favoring the other system, which, according to Buell, will make "forced labor and the confiscation of natives' land inevitable." The evils of "forced labor" already have been described upon by Prof. A. E. Foss of the University of Wisconsin in his investigation of Portuguese Angola. Portugal sent a special delegation to the League Assembly to obtain a whitewashing.

The conditions developing in Liberia and said to be the direct result of the intervention of Secretary Hoover and other elements in official Washington, on behalf of the rubber interests, chiefly the

STOCK RALLY CHECKED BY CALL RATE

Six Per Cent Money Accompanied by Calling of More Than $30,000,000 in Loans—Gains Reduced or Wiped Out and in Some Cases Losses Shown.

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES
Monday	138.49
Tuesday	144.90
Wednesday	148.71
Thursday	148.71
Friday	148.71
Saturday	148.71
Low 1928	138.49
High 1928	148.71

By the Associated Press. —Marking up of the call money rate from 5 to 6 per cent, accompanied by the calling of more than $30,000,000 in loans today checked the recovery in stock prices which had been under way for more than a week. The reaction set in after a brisk opening rally in which a number of issues were lifted two to nearly eight points. These gains were reduced or wiped out altogether, and in many cases converted into losses ranging from fractions to nearly four points.

The stiffening in call money was incidental to the heavy money and demand for funds. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. Bond prices continued to drift lower, although there were numerous exceptions to the general trend.

Wall street generally looked for the future course of the market to be determined principally by two factors—credit and business. The credit outlook is uncertain, as evident by the divergent opinions regarding the trend of money rates. Business prospects generally are considered favorable, although the expected improvement varies with the different industries. With the exception of the Peerless Motor Car Co., which reported a net loss of nearly $600,000 in the first half of the year, most of the semiannual statements making their appearance during the day were favorable.

Railroad Do Better. —Railroad shares, which have been lagging behind the general market, presented several points of strength today on buying influenced by the recent improvement in freight traffic, particularly on the Western lines. Delaware & Hudson showed a net gain of more than five points and Lehigh Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio, Atchafalaya, Baltimore & Ohio, Rock Island, Southern Railway and several others advanced 1 to 4 points. Special strength of the Erie was based on rumors of an early announcement of a recapitalization plan providing for a retirement of the present preferred issues through exchange for a new 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

Pools Again Active. —Pools were again active in today's market and succeeded in lifting nearly a dozen issues to new records. Montgomery Ward was again the spectacular performer, climbing more than four points to a new peak price of 122 in anticipation, it was said, of record-breaking July sales. Sears, Roebuck attained a new top at 124 for the same reason. Eastman Kodak was bid up to a new top at 124 1/2 on the report that amateur motion picture reproducing scores in full natural colors were shown today for the first time, but it slipped back to 123 on an official denial of reports of a stock split.

The new peak prices also were registered by Atlantic Refining, Electric Auto Light, Postum, Cudahy Packing, Worthington Pump and Spang Chaffant.

Atchafalaya Power issues went to new levels for the year, as did General Outdoor Advertising, Hollander & Sons and Yale & Towne.

Exchange Irregular. —The leading commodity markets were reactionary. Wheat dropped 1 cent to 1 1/2 cents a bushel and corn and some of the other grains even more. Wheat futures were favored by a dollar a bushel.

Foreign exchanges moved with a narrow and irregular market with sterling cables quoted around $4.85 1/2.

NECESSARY ASSENTS OBTAINED FOR DODGE-CHRYSLER MERGER

BALTIMORE, Md., July 30.—Stockholders of Dodge Brothers, Inc., voted at a special meeting today their approval of merger of that company with the Chrysler Corporation. The vote was taken after the committee on the merger plan announced that assents had been obtained from 90 per cent of each class of stock as required by the merger plan agreement between the two companies.

MO-PAC. NET OPERATING INCOME SHOWS GAIN

Not operating income of the Missouri Pacific for June moved up to $1,213,456 from $684,945 in June last year. Gross revenue was $9,796,641, a gain of $125,922. Net for the half year was $1,692,586, against $875,997 in the first half of 1927.

SHARES SOLD.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Total sales, 1,816,000 shares, compared with 2,100,000 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date, 432,533,300 shares, compared with 312,118,800 a year ago.

THE WAY —OF— A WOMAN

—By—
Marguerite Moores Marshall

ASK THE GIRLS.

ANOTHER professor has just made another great discovery—it's a professorial habit, you know.

Prof. Thornton W. Merriam of Cleveland announces that the first thing the modern young man desires in a wife is that she be a good housekeeper. The professor has been conducting a survey at the Case School of Applied Science.

In a painstaking endeavor to discover what sort of girls young men want for wives.

(Of course, what sort of men the girls want for husbands is the really vital question—But no male professor may be expected to recognize that!)

Alas! any girl who reads the result of Prof. Merriam's inquiries must find his chief conclusion the cream of silly season stuff. And must marvel how a professor, who presumably knows his young men.

Can yet be so kidded along by them!

For, "in a list of desired qualities and characteristics in their prospective wives."

"Good housekeeping scores the highest vote."

"From a group of marriageable young men."

"That's what they told the prof., and he believed it."

It's more than any girl will believe—

Who has watched "marriageable young men" doing their picking!

In the first place, how can these youths know

Whether a girl is a good housekeeper?

When they meet her, she's in college.

Or "going to business."

Or "just a home girl!"

In practically no case is she a housekeeper on the job.

If they go to her home for Sunday night supper

Mother may assure them, smilingly, that Daughter made the delectable chocolate cake—

What does that prove, except that Mother is likely to be a conscientious and successful liar?

When she wants to help Daughter make a hit?

Anyhow, does the ability to construct chocolate cake

Mean that a girl can prepare a chicken dinner.

Or keep house on the salary of a young man's modest budget?

In the second place, what young man thinks twice

About whether the girl friend can do either of the above tricks—

If she can step a snappy Charleston.

If she knows how to wear her clothes.

If she has a good line and is easy to look at?

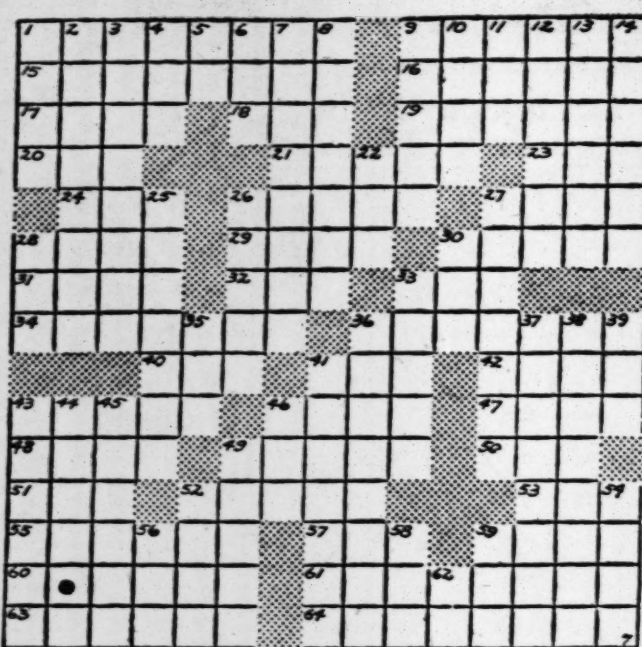

A girl need not be a beauty in order to attract "marriageable young men."

But personality, "pep," good dancing and a certain snariness draw them.

Far more than a solid domestic proficiency!

It may not be just, or sensible, but it's true—

Climb Down!

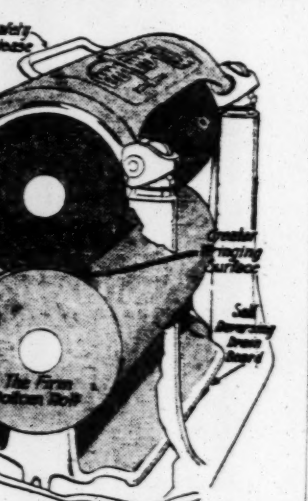

Worth Remembering.

We need an extension Laddergram today to make the Cats-Kill mountain climb. Step down carefully a rung at a time, changing a single letter only in each downward step. Without transposing the remaining letters or resorting to obsolete or hyphenated words or words of foreign dialect, see if you can beat the author's solution, which will appear tomorrow. Here's an answer to Chop-Suey: 1. Chop; 2. Shop; 3. Shod; 4. Shed; 5. Sued; 6. Suez.

FALSE TEETH

Held Firmly in Place
False teeth makes false teeth stay in place. No slipping or sliding. Eat, laugh, sing, yawn in comfort without fear of teeth slipping. No stummy, goey, nasty taste. Dead-ornices. Makes breath sweet. Get False Teeth at Wolff-Wilson and Wallgreen Drug Stores, or any good druggist.

THIS sectional view of the New Maytag Roller

Water Remover shows how the semi-soft, balloon-type upper roll hugs the bottom roll, thus increasing the actual working surface three or four times.

In like manner, the roll flexes about the seams, folds and lumps in the clothes, removing both soap and water evenly from all parts of the garment. This results in quicker, more even drying on the line, and no yellow spots. Buttons, buckles, snaps or an ornament go through safely. Then, too, there is a safety feed board, an automatic

A DISH FOR TODAY

Whole Wheat Apple Sauce Cake.

ONE AND THREE-QUARTERS cups whole wheat self-rising flour, ½ teaspoon of grated nutmeg, ½ cup of shortening, ½ cup of cloves, ¾ cup of brown sugar, 1 cup chopped seeded raisins, 1 teaspoon of ground cinnamon, 1 cup of apple sauce, 2 teaspoons of baking soda.

Cream together the shortening and brown sugar; add cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and seeded raisins. Into the thick sifted apple sauce (made from tart, unspiced apples) stir the baking soda and add this to the creamed mixture with 1 cup of flour. Beat well, then add as much flour (about ¾ cup) as is needed to make a stiff batter.

Bake in a loaf pan lined with greased paper in a moderate oven, about 30 minutes, according to the thickness of the loaf. This cake will keep moist and can be fed when cold with thick boiled frosting, flavored with lemon juice and containing 2 tablespoons of grated coconut.

Inter-American Commission Wants Uniform Woman's Nationality Code

Efforts Will Be Made, Says Miss Doris Stevens, the Chairman, to End the Present Chaotic Condition and Correct Some of the Existing Evils.

As its first subject of investigation and study, the Inter-American Commission of Women, recently appointed by the Pan-American Union, will take up the question of the nationality of women and of their children. This announcement was made today by Miss Doris Stevens, representative of the United States upon the commission, and chairman of the commission. "The Inter-American Commission of Women is empowered to study the status of women in the 21 republics of the Western Hemisphere. It seems the part of wisdom to begin with the question of nationality," she said. "The Codification of International Law which has been called by the League of Nations to meet at The Hague in 1933. Both member and non-member states will take part. The whole civilized world will be represented."

"The subject of woman's nationality is in a completely chaotic condition," added the brilliant young leader, the only person in the thirties to have attained the position of heading an international board of jurisprudence. "Women are eager for an opportunity to correct some of the existing evils. There is no uniformity in laws of nationality. A woman may find herself possessed of several nationalities or of none at all. Some countries of our Western Hemisphere, a married woman takes the nationality of her husband in all cases. Sometimes, as in the Dominican Republic and Costa Rica, she loses her nationality on marrying a foreigner, provided that her husband's country give her his nationality. In some countries, as in Ecuador, she loses her nationality on marrying a foreigner only if she goes to her husband's country to live and if that country gives her his nationality. As in Ecuador, and elsewhere, after having lost her nationality by marriage with a foreigner, a woman may resume it upon dissolution of the marriage, if she so desires. Sometimes, as in Costa Rica, when a woman loses her nationality by such marriage with a foreigner, she can only regain it by coming back into her own country as a foreigner herself, and being naturalized."

In some countries the law works both ways. A native woman who marries a foreigner takes his nationality; a foreign woman who marries a native man takes his nationality. This is true of Haiti, for instance. On the other hand, there are countries in which the law works only one way. Again, as in Guatemala, a woman is given an option as to her nationality. She may keep her own while her husband's, as she prefers, if she makes a definite statement to this effect in the marriage agreement.

In other countries, the naturalization law is different for men and for women. In Ecuador, for instance, the naturalization of a man carries with it the naturalization of his wife and children, but the naturalization of a married woman, on the other hand, does not carry with it the naturalization of her husband and children.

In some cases, most illogical and lamentable of all, a woman has the nationality of one country, but when she marries, she ceases to enjoy English nationality according to British law, but does not become Argentine by Argentine law. There is no remedy whatever for such a condition. In practice, however, Argentine gives the woman her passport and diplomatic facilities, but she is beyond the pale of nationality cast off by her own country and not accepted by her husband's.

There are a few countries in the hemisphere, such as Brazil and Uruguay, which have an enlightened law that marriage shall not affect the nationality of women.

In the United States, a woman retains her nationality upon marriage with a foreigner only when she is himself eligible for United States citizenship. In other words, a woman may lose her nationality upon marriage; a man never does.

GAIN, in the United States, a woman who marries a foreigner and lives two years in her husband's country is presumed to have lost her nationality. A woman from the United States marries a foreigner and lives with him five years anywhere outside her own country, according to United States law she is again presumed to have lost her nationality. "In some countries—the United States among them—when a child is born abroad, the country will give nationality to the child only if the father has that nationality. The country gives the mother's nationality to the child in such cases only when the child is illegitimate."

The work of the Inter American Commission of Women will help clear up this tangle, and will be of decided assistance, we hope, in drafting a uniform proposal for the civilized world. Not women alone, but all governments are frankly in a quandary under the present system. The amount of hardship entailed is almost unbelievable, and has led the League of Nations to place this vexed question of nationality prominently on the agenda of the Hague Conference on International Law.

"We note that in nearly all these conflicting types of laws on nationality there is one outstanding attribute: women are discriminated against. This is a condition that the women of the western hemisphere have resolved to correct. Only in a few countries is the law on nationality now the same for men and women. It is our hope and our belief that this will soon come to be the case throughout our hemisphere, and the world."

Makes All the Difference

TWO tablespoons a day of orange or tomato juice, sunshine by the hour, or cod liver oil by the teaspoonful, may mean the difference between a baby who uses the building materials of milk to good advantage and one who does not; between a baby with rickets and one with straight, sturdy limbs; between a baby with high resistance to disease and one that falls a victim to every passing germ; between a baby handicapped with constipation and all its ills and discomforts, and one with a well-regulated habit of disposing of the body wastes.

Chocolate Charlotte Russe. Mix 1½ ounces of melted bitter chocolate with ¼ cup boiling water and 1 cup powdered sugar. Cook until smooth. Cool and add 1 teaspoonful vanilla and 1½ cups stiffly whipped cream. Line sherberts with halved lady-fingers and fill with the mixture. Chill.

Raw onions have a very beneficial effect upon the liver.

Ask your Husband ...which toast is better

"Wonder Bread," he'll say. Men know immediately!

JUST make one slice of toast from your ordinary bread. Then make another with Wonder Bread. And your husband will notice the difference after a single bite!

It is really surprising, almost, the way a man takes to this delicately flavored bread. Most likely after you've served it once, your husband will insist on getting it every time.

You see, every loaf of Wonder Bread is slo-baked. That's the only way we can secure that delicate flavor everyone likes so much in bread.

And then, too, we take great care to get the very best ingredients. Specially selected flour made from the heart of the wheat berry. Double the usual quantity of milk. So, Madam, no matter how well you like your present bread, we believe you'll be wise to give Wonder Bread a thorough trial. There's a good chance you'll like it much better.

Try it for toast and sandwiches... see how thin you can slice it. Test it for flavor... see how it keeps its original freshness to the very last slice.

MAKE 3-MINUTE TEST Toast a slice of Wonder Bread and a slice of any other bread 1½ minutes on each side. See how much richer, more golden, the Wonder Bread looks. Note how much more appetizing its aroma—how much more delicious its taste. Slo-baking brings out flavor—keeps it fresh. Bread that's slo-baked is best.

Household Hints

Cook as many foods as possible while the oven is going. Cooking five articles consumes no more gas than does a single article of food.

Even if you intend to use the gas again immediately, it is economy to turn off the gas, for matches are cheaper than gas.

While baking or cooking in the oven, place a pan of water on the top grate. This will do for the dish washing and save the most of lighting the water heater.

Small bags made of scraps of cretonne or other strong fabric and fastened on inside of bureau drawers with thumb tacks make handy receptacles.

Hashed Brown Potatoes.

Chop cold boiled potatoes into tiny cubes until you have 3 cups. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Blend 2 tablespoons butter and 1 tablespoonful flour and add ½ cup brown stock or water. Cook for a few minutes and then add potatoes and cook 10 minutes without stirring. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in another frying pan and when brown turn in potatoes. Spread evenly and cook for 10 minutes. Turn like an omelet and serve. A sprinkling of minced parsley is nice over the top.

German Kuchen.

Make a pancake batter of 1 pint of milk that has been boiled and cooled until lukewarm, 1 yeast cake, salt and enough flour to form a thin batter. Let set for 3 hours. Then add to it 3 eggs, 1 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, the grated rind of 1 lemon, a little vanilla and enough flour to make a stiff batter. Beat well and let rise over night. Roll out and put in pans. Let rise until light. Brush white of egg over the top and sprinkle with chopped almonds, cinnamon and brown sugar. Bake until nicely browned.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

KING EAGLE IS OUTRAGED.

I kill, but only for my need;
Man kills for sport, and also greed.
—King Eagle.

KING EAGLE had started out from his home in the Great Mountain. Broad of wing and wonderful in flight is King Eagle. He and his family have ruled over the feathered folk for so long that he has grown accustomed to respect from most of them, so he pays little attention to them. He feels that he is rightfully ruler of the air. Far out over the Green Forest, then over the Green meadows and across farm after farm, sailed King Eagle. Always his eyes were watching, watching for food. As he flew over Farmer Brown's he had come down fairly low. He saw Farmer Brown's Boy in the doorway and Farmer Brown's Boy saw him.

"Why do you do that, Son?" Farmer Brown had asked one day. "It's a sort of a salute," replied Farmer Brown's Boy. "We salute the flag when we see it, and I always have the feeling that I ought to salute King Eagle. Isn't he the living emblem of our country? You see his image on our coins and on our bank notes and on the flagstaff above our flag. He stands for the freedom of America. When we see him alive and enjoying his own freedom, it seems to me we ought to give him a salute." Farmer Brown smiled. "I guess you're right, Son," said he. "A salute it is that a lot of people didn't think the same way a long time ago. Eagles are becoming scarce now." "I know it," exploded Farmer Brown's Boy. "People shoot at them. What right has any man to point a gun at an Eagle? If a man should point a gun at the flag, he would be mobbed. Yet the flag is merely an emblem. The Eagle is an emblem of the same thing, and a living emblem. As long as it is such it should be respected as such." "Right, Son, right!" said Farmer Brown.

He saw Farmer Brown's Boy in the doorway, and Farmer Brown's Boy saw him.

It was beyond Farmer Brown's farm, as King Eagle was sailing over another farmer, and rather lower than usual, that the thing happened. He saw a man step out of a house and point something up at him. He saw a flash and a little puff of smoke. A broad feather was cut out of his wing. At the same time there was a sharp, whistling sound. King Eagle had been fired at with a rifle, which you know is one kind of terrible gun. Instantly King Eagle began to go up. Again there was a flash and a puff of smoke and the whistling scream of a bullet. But this one did not touch him and King Eagle kept on climbing higher and higher, until he was so far away that the man could no longer shoot at him.

What a rage he was in! How he did hate those two-legged creatures called men! King Eagle knew what had happened. He knew that he had been shot at. He had been shot at many times before. That was why that, as a rule, he seldom flew low near the homes of men. When he returned to his home on the Great Mountain he told Mrs. Eagle what had happened and warned her to fly high when she was flying above the homes of men.

What they do it for I cannot understand," said he. "I have not hurt any of those two-legged creatures. I do not try to take their young. I do not catch anything of theirs. I harm them in no way. Why should they try to kill me?" Mrs. Eagle shook her head sadly. "I don't know," said she. "I don't believe they know themselves." (Copyright, 1935.)

SENTENCES OF SIX MONTHS GIVEN TEXTILE STRIKE CHIEFS

Three Radical Leaders in New Bedford Walkout Ordered Imprisoned for Violating Riot Act.

THREE WOMEN GET THREE MONTHS EACH

Twenty-Eight Others Receive Two-Month Terms—Appeals Taken After Hearing on Disorders.

By the Associated Press.
NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 19.—Three leaders of the textile strikers' group were sentenced today to six months in the House of Correction on charges of violation of the riot act, following disturbances last night growing out of arrests of pickets. They were held in $1500 bond when notice of appeal was given. Twenty-eight other men were sentenced to two months each and held in $500 bond.

The three sentenced to the long terms are Fred E. Beal of Lawrence, Joseph Cabral of New Bedford and Jack Rubinstein of New York. The police assert they headed the so-called "radical group" among the strikers. Three women picket leaders got three months each and filed $1000 bonds when they appealed. Two hundred and fifty pickets were confined in the Central Police Station last night as the result of clash with authorities that eventually called out a company of Coast Artillery to disperse at Bayonet point a crowd of 10,000 persons in one of the most turbulent demonstrations of the 14-week textile strike. Long into the morning the prisoners continued to shout and sing in the crowded quarters at the station while radical leaders of the Textile Mills Committee urged their companions under arrest to embarrass authorities still further by refusing to apply for or accept bail.

Thousands Cheer Prisoners. Thousands of strikers, sympathizers and spectators lined the streets near the courthouse today to cheer the arrival of truckloads of pickets. The prisoners cheered and waved greetings to their sympathizers. Pickets Unaffiliated With Unions. Those under arrest were operatives affiliated with the labor group opposed to the New Bedford Textile Council, the recognized union body which has consistently refused to be a party to the demonstrations which have involved police clashes.

Many were taken into custody in a wholesale roundup of pickets before the Whittman mill early last night. Vans of patrolmen made a quick dash to the scene after authorities had been defied by Fred E. Beal, an organizer for the Textile Mill Committee, to oust the picket line. As news spread of the wholesale roundup, a crowd estimated at 10,000 gathered about the police station. Chief of Police Samuel D. McLeod then called upon Battery E of the Coast Artillery, while Deputy Sheriffs forced their way into the throng to read the riot act. The National Guardsmen surprised the mob by pouring out of the station with fixed bayonets and although a few stones greeted their arrival, the crowd was quickly pushed back and the streets cleared for two blocks in directions. An erroneous report that a man or woman had been stabbed by a soldier's bayonet temporarily caused fresh excitement.

Strikers to Vote on Mediation. While the so-called "radicals" were contending with police, the Textile Council met and voted to submit to its constituent unions the question of arbitrating the strike proposed last week by the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation at a meeting attended by representatives of labor and manufacturers. The unions are expected to make known their decision by Thursday night. Mill gates were sparsely picketed today, with the exception of the Whittman mill. At that mill a line of several hundred pickets was on duty and a crowd of more than 2000 locked on.
